

Tanks Setting
Travel Records;
7-In. Moustache
On West Front

By HAL BOYLE
In Occupied Germany, Nov. 3 (AP)—Tanks are rolling up mileage records like Manhattan taxis.
T-4 Charles P. Powell, Alton, Illinois, drove his Sherman 1,565 miles in ten weeks of combat with the Fifth Armored division and says it is "still the best running tank in the army."
Although it has rolled through France, Belgium and Luxembourg, the tank still has the same engine, spark plugs and tracks it had back in England.
But T-5 Charles W. Winslow, Olympia, Washington, is on his third bulldozer. A shell ruined the first 17-ton dozer for him back near Maron, France. The second was a victim of the Siegfried line.
SOME MOUSTACHE
The longest moustache on the western front is claimed by Sgt. Jack Hathaway, Carmichael, Pa. It is red and measures seven inches from tip to tip.
4 BROTHERS IN FRANCE
The Ryans will have the biggest family reunion any soldier family ever had if they can ever get together. Lt. Paul V. Ryan, Fall River, Massachusetts, of the First Infantry division, has four brothers in the Army, all in France, but so far he hasn't seen any of them.
THREE DAYS FROM BROOKLYN
The newest mail speed record was set by a letter which reached a First Infantry private three days after it was mailed in Brooklyn. And it wasn't designated as airmail, either.
CHAPLAIN DECORATED
Chaplain William E. Boker, former pastor of the Delhi Church of Christ in Cincinnati, Ohio, is the latest battlefield sky pilot to wear a Silver Star. He was decorated for leading medical aid men through strong enemy fire to treat several wounded soldiers.
SLEPT WITH NAZIS
After the war, Sgt. Morris A. Koiand of Karstad, Minnesota, will probably look under the bed every night before retiring. . . . Blowing after a 70-mile tank run he posted guards and bunked down in a ditch. . . . When he started to rouse his crew at dawn he found they were chummy sharing the couch with four sleeping German soldiers.
BOND DINNER
NEXT FRIDAY
All members of the Adams County War Finance committee are being urged to attend the dinner-meeting next Friday evening in the Hotel Gettysburg to launch the Sixth War Bond drive. Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the committee, announced today.
Further details on the Sixth War Loan drive, which will open in the county November 20, will be explained. The drive will last until December 16. The county quota is $2,290,000.
A goal of $450,000 series E bonds has been set. Sales of all other bonds to individuals are aimed at $660,000 while the target for sales of bonds to corporations and all other non-banking sources is $1,180,000.
"Crucial Days"
All sales of Series E, F and G bonds and all tax notes made after November 1, and including December 31 will count in the quota.
Chairman Thomas urged every committee member to be present at the dinner. In making the announcement, he said, "Our boys in the service need our help more than ever. These are the crucial days—the decisive days, we hope—in this world struggle. We cannot let them down. We must not slacken our efforts now."
K. Of C. To Mark
20th Anniversary
Council No. 2551, Knights of Columbus, McSherrystown, will mark the twentieth anniversary of its organization at a special meeting to be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the K. of C. home on Main street.
State Deputy Robert White, Williamsport, will be the principal speaker at the meeting. District deputies and representatives from various councils in this area will attend. The first degree of the order will be conferred on a class of candidates. Following the meeting a pig roast supper will be served by the house committee.
The charter was granted to the McSherrystown K. of C. council on October 12, 1924. It bears the signatures of James A. Flaherty, supreme knight; William J. McGinley, supreme secretary, and the late F. X. Colgan, first grand knight of the council.
The McSherrystown K. of C. council now has 225 members enrolled in addition to the members of the class to be initiated on Sunday. Sixty-six members are in the armed forces. Bernard I. Noel is the present grand knight.

ARTILLERY FIRE IS WORSE THAN BOMBS SAYS VET

A veteran of the invasions of Sicily, southern France and of action with the Seventh Army in Italy, Pvt. Donald L. Trostle arrived Thursday, his twenty-first birthday, to spend a 21-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3.
Trostle, who wears the good Conduct ribbon and ribbons for service in the European and American theaters, has two major engagement stars—for the Sicily and Southern France invasions.
At Sicily he was on a transport when the heaviest Axis air raid of the invasion was made on Allied forces but that wasn't as bad as the hell of German 88's his outfit met on the coast of Southern France, he said today.
In On Third Wave
Trostle went into France in the third wave on D-Day, accompanying the engineer outfit to which Harry Oyler of Gettysburg is attached. Trostle saw Oyler both before and after the invasion.
The young man served with an MP outfit assigned to handling war prisoners. He said this morning that the young German prisoners are "rabid Nazis" but that the older men in the prison compounds know the war is lost.
Brought Prisoners Over
Trostle entered service February 8, 1943, leaving a job as inspector in a General Motors plant at Meriden, Conn. He attended Gettysburg high school for three years as a member of the class of 1942. Without getting a furlough, he went overseas late in June of last year and served in North Africa before going to Sicily and Italy.
His current furlough is a result of a trip to the United States with a contingent of Nazi prisoners. He will report for duty at Camp Patrick Henry, Va.
Private Trostle's father is a veteran of World War I. Twenty-six years ago today he was on a transport at Norfolk ready to leave for France. The Armistice cancelled sailing orders.

Soldier Is Home On 17-Day Furlough

Pte. William A. Harness, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Harness, Steintehr avenue, arrived home early this morning from Fort Lewis, Wash., on a 17-day furlough. He is attached to the medical corps.
Two other Harness boys were in service, Sgt. James H. Harness, who served in several campaigns overseas, including the Anzio beach-head, and who was wounded, was discharged early this week.
Pvt. H. Russell Harness is on duty in India.

UNITED NATIONS PEACE PARLEY IS DISCUSSED HERE

Strongpoints and suspected weaknesses of the Dumbarton Oaks charter and the great number of complicating factors involved in a workable world peace plan were discussed Friday evening by a panel of representative community leaders before an audience of more than 100 persons in Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church.
Judge W. C. Sheely conducted the panel discussion which was arranged for and presented by a committee of the Gettysburg Council of Church Women in observance of World Community Day. Mrs. Verma Myers, as chairman of the committee in charge, introduced the panel members.
The subject of the Dumbarton Oaks parley was opened by Dr. Albert Bachman, Gettysburg college faculty member and student of world affairs, who reviewed briefly the report on the decisions reached at the United Nations parley after observing that from the historians' point of view a better evaluation of the parley's actions might be made if there were knowledge of the forces brought to bear behind the closed doors of the conference.
Stronger Than League
He listed three previous major world treaties ending war crises, each of which failed to establish a lasting peace. He listed first the Treaty of Westphalia in 1648 which broke up the Holy Roman empire, the Congress of Vienna and the Treaty of Versailles with its League of Nations.
The Dumbarton Oaks charter is similar in many ways with the League of Nations but with the latter's weak points strengthened by the security council to be made up of representatives of the four major United Nations powers and France, he said.
Doctor Bachman summarized the conference plan for the establishment of world peace to be preserved by peaceful means by an organization of "all peace-loving nations" operating through a general assembly and a security council.
More "Realistic" Than League
The plan, Doctor Bachman said, suggests the establishment of a "super state" with procedures more closely approximating the English or continental procedure than the American doctrine of separation of executive and legislative functions.
Provision for a military staff to be attached to the security council makes the Dumbarton Oaks more "realistic" than the League of Nations "which perhaps was too much concerned with disarmament," Doctor Bachman observed.
He also made special mention of the provision made at Dumbarton Oaks for the establishment of an economic and social council of 18 with no nation allowed more than one representative on that council which would have the services of a staff of economic experts. A question from a panel member brought out the fact that there is no assurance that any of the large powers would have representation on the council.

IS JAILED ON LARCENY COUNT

After pleading guilty to a charge of taking a gold wrist watch, William M. Vaughn, Gettysburg R. 2, remained a prisoner in the county jail following a hearing Friday before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.
Vaughn was accused by Pvt. Harold K. Trout, of the local substitution of the state police, of taking the wrist watch from the arm of George Gingell, Zora, as he slept in his car early Friday morning near Haines roadside stand, south of Gettysburg on the Emmitsburg road.
Vaughn was arrested later in the day and committed to jail after the hearing. He remained in jail pending bail to be fixed by the court.
Robbery is one of a number of offenses for which a justice of the peace cannot fix bail.
State police reported that Vaughn reached through Gingell's car window and slipped the watch from the Zora man's wrist. Gingell valued the watch at about $60. Vaughn's attorney was reported today to be arranging bail.

Soldier Loses His Discharge Papers

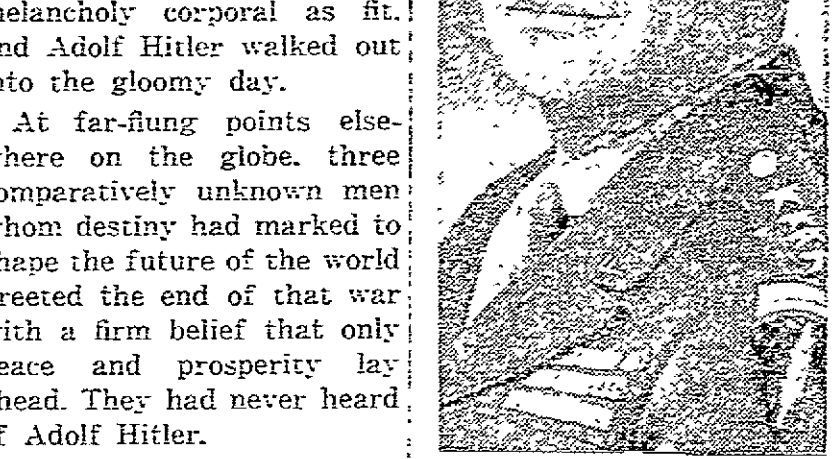

Harold Whitescarver, 912 Feuler street, Clinton, Tenn., appealed today to the state police for aid in locating his Army discharge papers which he said he lost while riding in a truck from New York to Gettysburg.
Whitescarver said he believes he left the folder containing the papers in the truck. Police asked that any driver finding the papers in his truck return them to the substitution on the second floor of the Hotel Gettysburg annex. Police then will forward them to Whitescarver.

General Eisenhower Was In Gettysburg 26 Years Ago Today

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—As a great, bloody conflict ended 26 years ago this morning, doctors in a military hospital in the German town of Pasedalk studied the case of a shell-shocked German corporal and debated whether to send him to a mental institution.
They finally released the melancholy corporal as fit, and Adolf Hitler walked out into the gloomy day.
At far-flung points elsewhere on the globe, three comparatively unknown men whom destiny had marked to shape the future of the world greeted the end of that war with a firm belief that only peace and prosperity lay ahead. They had never heard of Adolf Hitler.
Roosevelt III
In Washington, a young man named Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who was considered quite efficient around the Navy department where he was under-secretary, was convalescing from pneumonia.
In London Winston Churchill stood at the window of his room looking toward Trafalgar Square.
In Russia, Joseph Stalin was in the process of planning a long-range program of reconstruction for the new Soviet Union—a quiet, little man still in the background.
In Germany, Heinrich Himmler was trying to get enough gas to operate his taxi, a newspaperman named Joseph Goebbels was seeking employment, and Hermann Goering was boasting of his feats as a combat pilot.
Eisenhower Here
Dwight D. Eisenhower, the man destined to command all the Allied armies against Hitler a quarter of a century later, was somewhat disappointed when he heard of the armistice because he had had no opportunity to get into combat. At 11 a. m. November 11, 1918, Eisenhower was at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., commanding a tank training school.
Today, these men who celebrated that peace of 26 years ago are locked in the world's greatest conflict with the corporal who escaped confinement in a mental home.

GENERAL EISENHOWER

STUDENTS ARE URGED TO PLAN FUTURE LIVES

"High school students today should dedicate their lives to paying more attention to what goes on about them," Lt. Col. Willis P. Daniels, judge advocate at the Middletown Air Depot, Middletown, declared in an address Friday afternoon at the Gettysburg high school auditorium.
Speaking at special Armistice Day exercises sponsored by the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion, Colonel Daniels said that "by so dedicating your lives, you will dedicate to your future liberty and freedom of thought."

VETERAN OF 5 YEARS IS HOME

Pte. Floyd E. Lawrence, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verner Lawrence, 530 West Middle street, has returned home for a 21-day furlough for the first time in five years, much of which time was spent in the Pacific.
Pte. Lawrence was at Pearl Harbor when the Jap attack came three years ago. Since that time he has served in many parts of the Pacific theatre of warfare and was in the Gilbert Islands and several other major campaigns. He is visiting friends in Hagerstown this week but is expected to return to Gettysburg Monday or Tuesday.
He is one of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence in the Army. The others are Pvt. John H. Lawrence, 23, who saw service in Africa and now is stationed at Fort Myer, Virginia; Sgt. Donald A. Lawrence, 20, a gunner in the Air Corps, now in England; and Pvt. Raymond G. Lawrence, 31, who is stationed in Italy.

Japs Lose 10 Of 19-Ship Convoy; Foe Lands Troops

By C. YATES McDANIEL
General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 11 (AP)—Japan's "Tiger of Malaya," whose do-or-die stand on Leyte has flamed into a savage battle involving more than 100,000 men, poured thousands of fresh Nipponese against the Yanks today, after landing them from a 19-ship convoy at a cost of three transports and seven destroyers.
Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, taking great risks with Japan's dwindling reserves of cargo vessels and escort warships, got reinforcements to Ormoc despite determined attacks spaced over a 24-hour-period by American planes and patrol torpedo boats. A heavy rain squall, prolonging a previous cover of darkness, favored the gamble.
Land At Least 10,000 Troops
The reinforcements, which reasonably might exceed 10,000, buttressed 35,000 other enemy troops of three fresh divisions moved in on western Leyte to replace 35,000 casualties already inflicted by four American divisions.
The biggest and most crucial land engagement since Gen. Douglas MacArthur returned to the Philippines October 20 is developing.
Both sides are well equipped and backed by heavy artillery.
The enemy convoy of four 5,000-ton transports and 15 destroyers—the Japanese frequently use the swift destroyers for troop-carrying as well as escort duty—was spotted by U. S. airmen Thursday afternoon as it entered Ormoc bay.
Lightning fighters dovebombed with 1,000-pound explosives. Mitchell medium bombers went in at low level. Ships' guns dotted the skies with bursting ack ack. The Yank fighters were in small force but left a transport smoking before breaking off the engagement.
Thursday night, patrol torpedo boats darted in and out of destroyer searchlight paths, slipped by geyers churned up by five-inch guns and succeeded in sinking a warship.
At dawn Friday, Mitchells in force took the air. But a rain squall blotted out the newly-arrived convoy. When that cleared, the Japanese billowed a smoke screen over the snips.
By noon, the Mitchells got to work. They sank three transports and six destroyers. The enemy had achieved sizeable landings but his work wasn't all done.
Remnants Flee
The action ended late yesterday when the convoy remnants fled west toward Cebu. The attack cost four bombers and four fighters.
Yamashita, shifted in an emergency from Malaya to the Philippines, committed his reinforcements to a sector of Leyte covered by mountain ridges and crossed by a single, narrow winding road from American-held Pinamopan south to Japanese-held Ormoc.
Yanks moved north, south and west against these Japanese from eastern Leyte whose ports, airfields and highway network were wrested swiftly from Yamashita's ill-fated predecessor, Lt. Gen. Shigenori Kuroda.
A field dispatch today from Spencer Davis, Associated Press war correspondent, reported one 21st unit at another point was caught in enemy tanking fire and forced to pull back.

Here And There News Collected At Random

In commemoration of the 51st anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, which will be observed on Sunday, November 19, 1944, The Gettysburg Times will publish a series of six articles on the martyred President.
Most of the information for the articles was taken from Lincoln's Leyte, the weekly bulletin of the Lincoln National Life Foundation, edited by Dr. Louis A. Warren, eminent authority on Lincoln.
Some of the subjects to be treated include:
Was there any applause for President Lincoln after he delivered his Gettysburg Address?
The doctors who treated Lincoln after he was shot while attending the performance of "Our American Cousin" at Ford's theatre in Washington.
The arrest and sentence of the conspirators.
The funeral oration by Bishop Simpson.
"Two of Lincoln's famous letters."
Here is the first article:
Abraham Lincoln's Thanksgiving Proclamation in 1863 would be exceedingly fitting and proper in this hour and year. Here are some excerpts:
"The year that is drawing toward its close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come, others have been added, which are of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever-watchful providence of almighty God. . . . Needful diversions of wealth and of strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defense have not arrested the plow, the shuttle, or the ship; the ax has enlarged the borders of our settlements, and the mines, as well of iron and coal as of the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege, and the battlefield, and the country, rejoicing in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor, is permitted to expect continuance of years with large increase of freedom."
"No human counsel hath devised, nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the most high God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy. It has seemed to me fit and proper (Please Turn to Page 2)

Allies Punch New Advances Around Metz

(By The Associated Press)
London, Nov. 11.—American Third Army troops, advancing in two wings on a blazing 75-mile front in northeastern France, today were 4½ miles north and little more than eight miles southeast of the fortified city of Metz.
The offensive, now going into its fourth day, apparently had gained its greatest momentum southeast of the fortress city, last major stronghold remaining to the Germans in France. In that sector advances of more than eight miles were made in the first three days.
Supreme headquarters said the advance in the Metz-Nancy sector was made "against light to moderate resistance."
"The communique made no reference to a great tank battle reported by the German radio."
Deepest Advance
A front line dispatch today said more American tanks struck in the Chateau-Salins area late yesterday, advancing up to three miles on the third day of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's new drive.
The deepest points of penetration were at Tragny, 14 miles southeast of Metz, and five miles farther southeast of Fremery. American units at Fremery were 21 miles from the frontier of the Saar basin, German industrial stronghold, and roughly 30 miles from the city of Saarbrücken in the Siegfried line.
The wing fighting along the line running north from Metz appeared to be causing the Germans the most immediate concern.
From the French-German-Luxembourg frontier the American assault lines now extend south and southeast to the area of Lunerville. This front is ablaze everywhere except along the strongly-fortified German bulge extending west of Metz. This enemy has an average radius of seven miles. It is this inactive sector which divides the two wings of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's offensive.
Beat Counterattack
On the U. S. Seventh Army front, south of the Third Army battle zone, the Germans brought up reinforcements to forward positions, apparently fearing the offensive would spread to that quarter.
In the Hungen forest area southeast of Aachen, U. S. First Army troops threw back another savage German counterattack yesterday.
"Our units continue their attack against heavy resistance from dug-in enemy positions," the communique said.
West of Schmidt, 15 miles southeast of Aachen, American troops moved 800 yards across a snowy battlefield, slowly cleaning out pillboxes.
NEW TYPIST
Miss Ethel Sanders, Buford avenue, is the new typist at the county Public Assistance office instead of Mrs. Sanders as was announced Friday.

SMITH HEADS VETS' CLUB

Harold A. Smith was elected president of the Last Man's Club of the American Legion at the annual club banquet Friday evening at the Seaside hotel.
The new vice-president is Charles McNair. Carl Martz was elected secretary; Howard Hartzell was named treasurer; Prof. Lloyd C. Kaefer was chosen historian, and Howard Strausbaugh was picked as chaplain.
Lt. Col. Willis P. Daniels, judge advocate at the Middletown Air Depot, Middletown, was the main speaker and discussed governmental problems.
The retiring officers were Carl Mencher, president; Paul M. Rohrbaugh, vice-president; Harry J. Troxell, secretary; Paul Spangler, treasurer, and John Diehl, chaplain.
Three members of the club died during the year and their memory was honored during the evening.
About 60 members of the club attended the dinner.

Strongpoints and suspected weaknesses of the Dumbarton Oaks charter and the great number of complicating factors involved in a workable world peace plan were discussed Friday evening by a panel of representative community leaders before an audience of more than 100 persons in Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church.

Judge W. C. Sheely conducted the panel discussion which was arranged for and presented by a committee of the Gettysburg Council of Church Women in observance of World Community Day. Mrs. Verna Myers, as chairman of the committee in charge, introduced the panel members.

The subject of the Dumbarton Oaks parley was opened by Dr. Albert Bachman, Gettysburg college faculty member and student of world affairs, who reviewed briefly the report on the decisions reached at the United Nations parley after observing that from the historians' point of view a better evaluation of the parley's actions might be made if there were knowledge of the forces brought to bear behind the closed doors of the conference.

Stronger Than League

He listed three previous major world treaties ending war crises, each of which failed to establish a lasting peace. He listed first the Treaty of Westphalia in 1648 which broke up the Holy Roman empire, the Congress of Vienna and the Treaty of Versailles with its League of Nations.

The Dumbarton Oaks charter is similar in many ways with the League of Nations but with the latter's weak points strengthened by the security council to be made up of representatives of the four major United Nations powers and France, he said.

Doctor Bachman summarized the conference plan for the establishment of world peace to be preserved by peaceful means by an organization of "all peace-loving nations" operating through a general assembly and a security council.

More 'Realistic' Than League

The plan, Doctor Bachman said, suggests the establishment of a "super state" with procedures more closely approximating the English or continental procedure than the American doctrine of separation of executive and legislative functions.

Provision for a military staff to be attached to the security council makes the Dumbarton Oaks more "realistic" than the League of Nations "which perhaps was too much concerned with disarmament," Doctor Bachman observed.

He also made special mention of the provision made at Dumbarton Oaks for the establishment of an economic and social council of 18 with no nation allowed more than one representative on that council which would have the services of a staff of economic experts. A question from a panel member brought out the fact that there is no assurance that any of the large powers would have representation on that council.

Secret Commitments?

Doctor Bachman also read the provisions made for amendment of the charter provisions and he confessed that in his mind the setup was "something of a riddle."

As he concluded Doctor Bachman drew a comparison between the Dumbarton Oaks parley and the Congress of Vienna. The latter was preceded by a secret four-power parley at which commitments were made secretly by the four powers of that day—Russia, Prussia, Austria and Britain. Dumbarton Oaks, he pointed out, was preceded by Tehran.

Edmund W. Thomas, First National bank president, opened the panel discussion by asserting there is a much closer relationship between economics and world peace than is generally realized. "Basically the cause of wars is the struggle for bread," he declared. He pointed (Please Turn to Page 2)

General Eisenhower Was In Gettysburg 26 Years Ago Today

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—As a great, bloody conflict ended 26 years ago this morning, doctors in a military hospital in the German town of Pese-walk studied the case of a shell-shocked German corporal and debated whether to send him to a mental institution.

They finally released the melancholy corporal as fit, and Adolf Hitler walked out into the gloomy day.

At far-flung points elsewhere on the globe, three comparatively unknown men whom destiny had marked to shape the future of the world greeted the end of that war with a firm belief that only peace and prosperity lay ahead. They had never heard of Adolf Hitler.

Roosevelt III

In Washington, a young man named Franklin Delano Roosevelt, who was considered quite efficient around the Navy department where he was under-secretary, was convalescing from pneumonia.

In London Winston Churchill stood at the window of his room looking toward Trafalgar Square.

In Russia, Joseph Stalin was in the process of planning a long-range program of reconstruction for the new Soviet Union—a quiet, little man still in the background.

In Germany, Heinrich Himmler was trying to get enough gas to operate his taxi, a newspaperman named Joseph Goebbels was seeking employment, and Hermann Goering was boasting of his feats as a combat pilot.

Eisenhower Here

Dwight D. Eisenhower, the man destined to command all the Allied armies against Hitler a quarter of a century later, was somewhat disappointed when he heard of the armistice because he had had no opportunity to get into combat. At 11 a. m., November 11, 1918, Eisenhower was at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., commanding a tank training school.

Today, these men who celebrated that peace of 26 years ago are locked in the world's greatest conflict with the corporal who escaped confinement in a mental home.

IS JAILED ON LARCENY COUNT

After pleading guilty to a charge of taking a gold wrist watch, William M. Vaughn, Gettysburg R. 2, remained a prisoner in the county jail following a hearing Friday before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

Vaughn was accused by Pvt. Harold K. Trout, of the local substation of the state police, of taking the wrist watch from the arm of George Gingell, Zora, as he slept in his car early Friday morning near Haines' roadside stand, south of Gettysburg on the Emmitsburg road.

Vaughn was arrested later in the day and committed to jail after the hearing. He remained in jail pending bail to be fixed by the court. Robbery is one of a number of offenses for which a justice of the peace cannot fix bail.

State police reported that Vaughn reached through Gingell's car window and slipped the watch from the Zora man's wrist. Gingell valued the watch at about $60. Vaughn's attorney was reported today to be arranging bail.

STUDENTS ARE URGED TO PLAN FUTURE LIVES

"High school students today should dedicate their lives to paying more attention to what goes on about them," Lt. Col. Willis F. Daniels, judge advocate at the Middletown Air Depot, Middletown, declared in an address Friday afternoon at the Gettysburg high school auditorium.

Speaking at special Armistice Day exercises sponsored by the Albert J. Lentz post of the American Legion, Colonel Daniels said that "by so dedicating your lives, you will dedicate to your future liberty and freedom of thought."

C. Arthur Braine presided at the exercises. The program opened with the presentation of the colors by the Lentz post color guard comprising Paul L. Spangler, George Cushman, Joseph Smith and George Nauget. The audience of high school students and visitors saluted the flag as it was brought into the auditorium.

Legion Prayer

Braine read the Legion prayer for Armistice Day and Boy Scouts Dale Ferrar, Sidney Poppay, Jr. and William Snyder led the assembly in the pledge to the flag. Commander Paul M. Rohrbaugh of the Lentz post, was introduced. Judge W. C. Sheely presented Colonel Daniels.

"This is the greatest country in the world," he said. "We have just come through an era of speech-making. No where else could we go through a political campaign such as we just ended. Many changes were brought and discussed and we now are no worse off."

"Today we can get together and laugh, and it is a glorious thing to be able to do it."

As he spoke of the war, Colonel Daniels declared, "Certainly conditions now are not most desirable. All of us have relatives or friends in the service. The casualty lists now are over half a million and still going higher."

Use Education

It is such signs, Colonel Daniels said, that provide the peoples of the United States with the opportunity to look ahead and plan for the future. "It is only a fool who fails to take a warning," he stated, "and we can cure our political ills only with an intelligent adult population."

"Because of this you must use education as a basis for your duties as students and for preparing yourselves for adults. You will have to know your tax problems; know the suggested regulatory legislation in your state; know how well your nation is prepared to keep and enforce the peace, and above all, form an opinion one way or another on the matters."

Causes of War

The colonel then discussed the background of the present war. "It started back in 1914 and ran into 1920, but we failed to take advantage of the signs offered us. Then in the 26 years since the Armistice (Please Turn to Page 5)

News Collected At Random

In commemoration of the 81st anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, which will be observed on Sunday, November 19, 1944, The Gettysburg Times will publish a series of six articles on the martyred President.

Most of the information for the articles was taken from Lincoln Lore, the weekly bulletin of the Lincoln National Life Foundation, edited by Dr. Louis A. Warren, eminent authority on Lincoln.

Some of the subjects to be treated include:

Was there any applause for President Lincoln after he delivered his Gettysburg Address?

The doctors who treated Lincoln after he was shot while attending the performance of "Our American Cousin" at Ford's theatre in Washington.

The arrest and sentence of the conspirators.

The funeral oration by Bishop Simpson.

"Two of Lincoln's famous letters."

Here is the first article:

Abraham Lincoln's Thanksgiving Proclamation in 1863

would be exceedingly fitting and proper in this hour and year. Here are some excerpts:

"The year that is drawing toward its close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the source from which they come, others have been added, which are of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever-watchful providence of almighty God. . . . Needful diversions of wealth and of strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defense have not arrested the plow, the shuttle, or the ship; the ax has enlarged the borders of our settlements, and the mines, as well of iron and coal as of the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege, and the battlefield, and the country, rejoicing in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor, is permitted to expect continuance of years with large increase of freedom."

"No human counsel hath devised, nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the most high God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy. It has seemed to me fit and proper (Please Turn to Page 2)

VETERAN OF 5 YEARS IS HOME

Pfc. Floyd E. Lawrence, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Lawrence, 530 West Middle street, has returned home for a 21-day furlough for the first time in five years, much of which time was spent in the Pacific.

Pfc. Lawrence was at Pearl Harbor when the Jap attack came three years ago. Since that time he has served in many parts of the Pacific theatre of warfare and was in the Gilbert Islands and several other major campaigns. He is visiting friends in Hagerstown this week but is expected to return to Gettysburg Monday or Tuesday.

He is one of four sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence in the Army. The others are Pvt. John H. Lawrence, 23, who saw service in Africa and now is stationed at Fort Myer, Virginia; Sgt. Donald A. Lawrence, 20, a gunner in the Air Corps, now in England; and Pvt. Raymond G. Lawrence, 31, who is stationed in Italy.

Beat Counterattack

On the U. S. Seventh Army front, south of the Third Army battle zone, the Germans brought up reinforcements to forward positions, apparently fearing the offensive would spread to that quarter.

In the Hurtgen forest area south of Aachen, U. S. First Army troops threw back another savage German counterattack yesterday.

"Our units continued their attack against heavy resistance from dug-in enemy positions," the communiqué said.

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 11

(AP)—Japan's "Tiger of Malaya," whose do-or-die stand on Leyte has flamed into a savage battle involving more than 100,000 men, poured thousands of fresh Nipponese against the Yanks today, after landing them from a 19-ship convoy at a cost of three transports and seven destroyers.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, taking great risks with Japan's dwindling reserves of cargo vessels and escort warships, got reinforcements to Ormoc despite determined attacks spaced over a 24-hour-period by American planes and patrol torpedo boats. A heavy rain squall, prolonging a previous cover of darkness, favored the gamble.

Land At Least 10,000 Troops

The reinforcements, which reasonably might exceed 10,000, buttressed 35,000 other enemy troops of three fresh divisions moved in on western Leyte to replace 35,000 casualties already inflicted by four American divisions.

The biggest and most crucial land engagement since Gen. Douglas MacArthur returned to the Philippines October 20 is developing.

Both sides are well equipped and backed by heavy artillery.

Allies Punch New Advances Around Metz

(By The Associated Press) London, Nov. 11—American Third Army troops, advancing in two wings on a blazing 75-mile front in northeastern France, today were 4 1/2 miles north and little more than eight miles southeast of the fortified city of Metz.

The offensive, now going into its fourth day, apparently had gained its greatest momentum southeast of the fortress city, last major stronghold remaining to the Germans in France. In that sector advances of more than eight miles were made in the first three days.

Supreme headquarters said the advance in the Metz-Nancy sector was made "against light to moderate resistance."

Deepest Advance

A front line dispatch today said more American tanks struck in the Chateau-Salins area late yesterday, advancing up to three miles on the third day of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's new drive.

The deepest points of penetration were at Tragny, 14 miles southeast of Metz, and five miles farther southeast of Premery. American units at Premery were 21 miles from the frontier of the Saar basin, German industrial stronghold, and roughly 30 miles from the city of Saarbrücken in the Siegfried line.

The wing fighting along the line running north from Metz appeared to be causing the Germans the most immediate concern.

From the French-German-Luxembourg frontier the American assault lines now extend south and southeast to the area of Lunerville. This front is ablaze everywhere except along the strongly-fortified German bulge extending west of Metz. This enemy arc has an average radius of seven miles. It is this inactive sector which divides the two wings of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's offensive.

The enemy convoy of four 5,000-ton transports and 15 destroyers—the Japanese frequently use the swift destroyers for troop-carrying as well as escort duty—was spotted by U. S. airmen Thursday afternoon as it entered Ormoc bay.

Lightning fighters divebombed with 1,000-pound explosives. Mitchell medium bombers went in at low level. Ships' guns dotted the skies with bursting ack ack. The Yank fliers were in small force but left a transport smoking before breaking off the engagement.

Thursday night, patrol torpedo boats darted in and out of destroyer searchlight paths, slipped by eysers churned up by five-inch guns and succeeded in sinking a warship.

At dawn Friday, Mitchells in force took the air. But a rain squall blotted out the newly-arrived convoy. When that cleared, the Japanese billowed a smoke screen over the ships.

By noon, the Mitchells got to work. They sank three transports and six destroyers. The enemy had achieved sizeable landings but his work wasn't all done.

Remnants Flee

The action ended late yesterday when the convoy remnants fled west toward Cebu. The attack cost four bombers and four fighters.

Yamashita, shifted in an emergency from Malaya to the Philippines, committed his reinforcements to a sector of Leyte covered by mountain ridges and crossed by a single, narrow winding road from American-held Pinamopan south to Japanese-held Ormoc.

Yanks moved north, south and west against these Japanese from eastern Leyte whose ports, airfields and highway network were wrested swiftly from Yamashita's ill-fated predecessor, Lt. Gen. Shigenori Kuroda.

A field dispatch today from Spencer Davis, Associated Press war correspondent, reported one 24th unit at another point was caught in enemy flanking fire and forced to pull back.

SMITH HEADS VETS' CLUB

Harold A. Smith was elected president of the Last Man's club of the American Legion at the annual club banquet Friday evening at the Battlefield hotel.

The new vice-president is Charles McNair. Carl Martz was elected secretary; Howard Hartzell was named treasurer; Prof. Lloyd C. Kofeauer was chosen historian, and Howard Strausbaugh was picked as chaplain.

Lt. Col. Willis F. Daniels, judge advocate at the Middletown Air Depot, Middletown, was the main speaker and discussed governmental problems.

The retiring officers were Carl Menchey, president; Paul M. Rohrbaugh, vice-president; Harry J. Troxell, secretary; Paul Spangler, treasurer, and John Diehl, chaplain.

Three members of the club died during the year and their memory was honored during the evening.

Tanks Setting
Travel Records;

On West Front

By HAL BOYLE
In Occupied Germany, Nov. 3 (AP)—Tanks are rolling up mileage records like Manhattan taxis.

T-4 Charles F. Powell, Alton, Illinois, drove his Sherman 1,565 miles in ten weeks of combat with the Fifth Armored division and says it is "still the best running tank in the Army."

Although it has rolled through France, Belgium and Luxembourg, the tank still has the same engine, spark plugs and tracks it had back in England.

But T-5 Charles W. Winslow, Olympia, Washington, is on his third bulldozer. A shell ruined the first 17-ton dozer for him back near Mahon, France. The second was a victim of the Siegfried line.

SOME MOUSTACHE

The longest moustache on the western front is claimed by Sgt. Jack Hathaway, Carmichael, Pa. It is red and measures seven inches from tip to tip.

BOND DINNER
NEXT FRIDAY

All members of the Adams County War Finance committee are being urged to attend the dinner-meeting next Friday evening in the Hotel Gettysburg to launch the Sixth War Bond drive, Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the committee, announced today.

Further details on the Sixth War Loan drive, which will open in the county November 20, will be explained. The drive will last until December 16. The county quota is $2,290,000.

A goal of $450,000 series E bonds has been set. Sales of all other bonds to individuals are aimed at $660,000 while the target for sales of bonds to corporations and all other non-banking sources is $1,180,000.

"Crucial Days"

All sales of Series E, F and G bonds and all tax notes made after November 1, and including December 31 will count in the quota.

Chairman Thomas urged every committee member to be present at the dinner. In making the announcement, he said, "Our boys in the service need our help more than ever. These are the crucial days—the decisive days, we hope—in this world struggle. We cannot let them down. We must not slacken our efforts now."

K. Of C. To Mark
20th Anniversary

Council No. 2551, Knights of Columbus, McSherrystown, will mark the twentieth anniversary of its organization at a special meeting to be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the K. of C. home on Main street.

State Deputy Robert White, Williamsport, will be the principal speaker at the meeting. District deputies and representatives from various councils in this area will attend. The first degree of the order will be conferred on a class of candidates. Following the meeting a pig roast supper will be served by the house committee.

The charter was granted to the McSherrystown K. of C. council on October 12, 1924. It bears the signatures of James A. Flaherty, supreme knight; William J. McGinley, supreme secretary, and the late F. X. Colgan, first grand knight of the council.

The McSherrystown K. of C. council now has 225 members enrolled in addition to the members of the class to be initiated on Sunday. Sixty-six members are in the armed forces. Bernard I. Noel is the present grand knight.

A veteran of the invasions of Sicily, southern France and of action with the Seventh Army in Italy, Pvt. Donald L. Trostle arrived Thursday, his twenty-first birthday, to spend a 21-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3.

Trostle, who wears the good Conduct ribbon and ribbons for service in the European and American theaters, has two major engagement stars—for the Sicily and Southern France invasions.

At Sicily he was on a transport when the heaviest Axis air raid of the invasion was made on Allied forces but that wasn't as bad as the hail of German 88's his outfit met on the coast of Southern France, he said today.

In Went Into France

Trostle went into France in the third wave on D-Day, accompanying the engineer outfit to which Harry Oylor of Gettysburg is attached. Trostle saw Oylor both before and after the invasion.

The young man served with an MP outfit assigned to handling war prisoners. He said this morning that the young German prisoners are "rabid Nazis" but that the older men in the prison compounds know the war is lost.

Brought Prisoners Over

Trostle entered service February 8, 1943, leaving a job as inspector in a General Motors plant at Meriden, Conn. He attended Gettysburg high school for three years as a member of the class of 1942. Without getting a furlough, he went overseas late in June of last year and served in North Africa before going to Sicily and Italy.

His current furlough is a result of a trip to the United States with a contingent of Nazi prisoners. He will report for duty at Camp Patrick Henry, Va.

Private Trostle's father is a veteran of World War I. Twenty-six years ago today he was on a transport at Norfolk ready to leave for France. The Armistice cancelled sailing orders.

UNITED NATIONS
DISCUSSED HERE

Strongpoints and suspected weaknesses of the Dumbarton Oaks charter and the great number of complicating factors involved in a workable world peace plan were discussed Friday evening by a panel of representative community leaders before an audience of more than 100 persons in Trinity Evangelical and Reformed church.

Judge W. C. Sheely conducted the panel discussion which was arranged for and presented by a committee of the Gettysburg Council of Church Women in observance of World Community Day. Mrs. Verna Myers, as chairman of the committee in charge, introduced the panel members.

The subject of the Dumbarton Oaks parley was opened by Dr. Albert Bachman, Gettysburg college faculty member and student of world affairs, who reviewed briefly the report on the decisions reached at the United Nations parley after observing that from the historians' point of view a better evaluation of the parley's actions might be made if there were knowledge of the forces brought to bear behind the closed doors of the conference.

The plan, Doctor Bachman said, suggests the establishment of a "super state" with procedures more closely approximating the English or continental procedure than the American doctrine of separation of executive and legislative functions.

Provision for a military staff to be attached to the security council makes the Dumbarton Oaks more "realistic" than the League of Nations "which perhaps was too much concerned with disarmament," Doctor Bachman observed.

He also made special mention of the provision made at Dumbarton Oaks for the establishment of an economic and social council of 18 with no nation allowed more than one representative on that council which would have the services of a staff of economic experts. A question from a panel member brought out the fact that there is no assurance that any of the large powers would have representation on that council.

Doctor Bachman also read the provisions made for amendment of the charter provisions and he confessed that in his mind the setup was "something of a riddle."

As he concluded Doctor Bachman drew a comparison between the Dumbarton Oaks parley and the Congress of Vienna. The latter was preceded by a secret four-power parley at which commitments were made secretly by the four powers of that day—Russia, Prussia, Austria and Britain. Dumbarton Oaks, he pointed out, was preceded by Teheran.

As he spoke of the war, Colonel Daniels declared, "Certainly conditions now are not most desirable. All of us have relatives or friends in the service. The casualty lists now are over half a million and still going higher."

Use Education

It is such signs, Colonel Daniels said, that provide the peoples of the United States with the opportunity to look ahead and plan for the future. "It is only a fool who fails to take a warning," he stated, "and we can cure our political ills only with an intelligent adult population."

"Because of this you must use education as a basis for your duties as students and for preparing yourselves for adults. You will have to know your tax problems; know the suggested regulatory legislation in your state; know how well your nation is prepared to keep and enforce the peace, and above all, form an opinion one way or another on the matters."

"Don't wait until something in the world or your nation has happened—do it now."

Causes of War

The colonel then discussed the background of the present war. "It started back in 1914 and ran into 1920, but we failed to take advantage of the signs offered us. Then in the 26 years since the Armistice (Please Turn to Page 5)

Japs Lose 10 Of 19-Ship Convoy;
Foe Lands Troops

By C. YATES McDANIEL

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Nov. 11 (AP)—Japan's "Tiger of Malaya," whose do-or-die stand on Leyte has flamed into a savage battle involving more than 100,000 men, poured thousands of fresh Nipponese against the Yanks today, after landing them from a 19-ship convoy at a cost of three transports and seven destroyers.

Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, taking great risks with Japan's dwindling reserves of cargo vessels and escort warships, got reinforcements to Ormoc despite determined attacks spaced over a 24-hour-period by American planes and patrol torpedo boats. A heavy rain squall, prolonging a previous cover of darkness, favored the gamble.

Land At Least 10,000 Troops

The reinforcements, which reasonably might exceed 10,000, buttressed 35,000 other enemy troops of three fresh divisions moved in on western Leyte to replace 35,000 casualties already inflicted by four American divisions.

The biggest and most crucial land engagement since Gen. Douglas MacArthur returned to the Philippines October 20 is developing.

Both sides are well equipped and backed by heavy artillery.

New Advances
Around Metz

(By The Associated Press)

London, Nov. 11—American Third Army troops, advancing in two wings on a blazing 75-mile front in northeastern France, today were 4½ miles north and little more than eight miles southeast of the fortified city of Metz.

The offensive, now going into its fourth day, apparently had gained its greatest momentum southeast of the fortress city, last major stronghold remaining to the Germans in France. In that sector advances of more than eight miles were made in the first three days.

Supreme headquarters said the advance in the Metz-Nancy sector was made "against light to moderate resistance."

Deepest Advance

A front line dispatch today said more American tanks struck in the Chateau-Salins area late yesterday, advancing up to three miles on the third day of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's new drive.

The deepest points of penetration were at Tragny, 14 miles southeast of Metz, and five miles farther southeast of Fremercy. American units at Fremercy were 21 miles from the frontier of the Saar basin, German industrial stronghold, and roughly 30 miles from the city of Saarbrücken in the Siegfried line.

The wing fighting along the line running north from Metz appeared to be causing the Germans the most immediate concern.

From the French-German-Luxembourg frontier the American assault lines now extend south and southeast to the area of Luneville. This front is ablaze everywhere except along the strongly-fortified German bulge extending west of Metz. This enemy arc has an average radius of seven miles. It is this inactive sector which divides the two wings of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's offensive.

Beat Counterattack

On the U. S. Seventh Army front, south of the Third Army battle zone, the Germans brought up reinforcements to forward positions, apparently fearing the offensive would spread to that quarter.

In the Hurtgen forest area southeast of Aachen, U. S. First Army troops threw back another savage German counterattack yesterday.

"Our units continued their attack against heavy resistance from dug-out enemy positions," the communique said.

"HOME FRONT" MUST GIRD FOR BIG WAR TASKS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst
Twenty-six years ago this Armistice Day I was on the British front in France waiting for the eleventh hour to end the hell which we called the World War, and my most enduring memory is the fantastically tragic circumstance that brave men were dying right up to the time of the order to cease fire.
Although we knew well before the armistice hour that the conflict was ending, the big guns continued to belch death. Fighting raged fiercely along the Allied fronts, until a few seconds before eleven when the thunder ceased and left great armies stunned with the strange silence.
There is, I believe, a great lesson in this for us today as the Allies grid themselves for the coup de grace which cannot long be deferred. We must realize that even though the defeat of our enemies is inevitable, our men must continue to risk their lives until the "cease fire" is given.
Home Front Needed
The moral is that we on the home front must jump in now and keep our forces supplied with the wherewithal to end this bloody business quickly. There's tough fighting still to be done. In all theaters are signs of a desperate last ditch stand by our enemies.
On the western front the Germans are battling fanatically to block Allied preparations for a general offensive. The United Nations are attacking to improve their positions for the big day, and this space work is going on from Holland to the Swiss border. It's hard work for the troops aren't battling in water to their middles they probably are knee deep in clinging mud. The fighting is particularly heavy in the Metz sector where General Patton is staging a large offensive to secure German key communications east of that stronghold.
Out of this bitter struggle for position is emerging a compact front from which General Eisenhower can launch his crucial drive.
Death In Orient
In the Orient the Japs are rushing to battle. Despite the brilliant beginning of our invasion of Leyte, the Nipponese have succeeded in replacing their heavy losses there, and a great battle is joined. The fight for the Philippines may be hard and long, though we shall win.
So it goes. Secretary of War Stimson says of the western theater that American soldiers "know it is going to be difficult and costly to carry out the large scale offensives which will be necessary to bring us victory." He also declares "Japan is going to fight in the Philippines to the bitter end." And Lt. Gen. Vandergift, Marine Corps commandant, tells us the toughest part of the Japanese war is ahead, and that "the coming year will be the supreme test."
With all this before us it's easy to see that we are at that crucial stage of the global war where our fighting forces are going to need vast supplies of all sorts from the home front: if the war is to be speeded up. Shortage of supplies—and there have been shortages—mean delay in forcing the enemy to his knees.
We need only this much more for a complete picture: Lt. Col. F. H. Higgins, U. S. Army Ordnance officer, stated in a speech in Toronto this week that on the western front it had been necessary to ration shells used in 240-mm guns.
"It is very important," he warned, "that we supply General Eisenhower's men with all the shells they need."

CIVIC LEADERS TO MEET HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Several civic leaders from Gettysburg are expected to meet with the leaders from other communities in Cumberland, Adams, Fulton, Franklin and York counties in Gettysburg on November 14, for discussion of war, postwar and general community work.
This district organization conference is called jointly by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, and the Pennsylvania Commercial Secretaries Association, with the Gettysburg, York, Carlisle, and Chambersburg Chambers cooperating. Many of the delegates will have dinner together at 6:30 p. m. at Hotel Gettysburg. The business session will start at 7:30 p. m.
Principal Speakers
The business session will consist of three short talks, given by G. I. Chadwick, of the Carlisle Chamber; E. A. Hirschman, of the York Chamber; and E. D. Bacon, of the state Chamber. They will describe the work that community organizations should do in wartime, suggest various methods of performing it, and discuss the importance of such activities. These talks will be followed by an extended round table discussion of matters affecting the towns and cities of this area. The representatives from local communities will be encouraged to take part in the round table discussion, discussing their particular problems and the opportunities presented in this section of the state, as well as the necessity for action on the important state and national questions that face all citizens.
It is anticipated that from 15 to 20 different communities will be represented at the meeting.
Members of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce are urged to attend and to make reservations at once through their local office.
MARTIN ASKS LASTING PEACE IN TALK TODAY
(By The Associated Press)
Pennsylvania observed Armistice Day today, once again paying earnest tribute to men who fought in a war which ended 26 years ago.
An overtones of solemnity dominated the occasion, as victorious warriors of World War I joined fellow citizens in praying for the welfare of tens of thousands of Keystone state servicemen fighting on battlefronts the world over.
Communities throughout the commonwealth, led by veterans and patriotic organizations, took part in activities honoring the fighting men and women of both wars. At 11 a. m., citizens paused in their tasks to honor the fallen dead.
Gov. Edward Martin speaking at a program at his home town, Washington, Pa., called for a lasting peace despite what he termed "a swing against religious ideals."
Paganism Trend
"There is a growing tendency toward paganism and a new dark age of the spirit in all the old world," he declared.
This must not influence the writing of the peace agreement, said the former major general of Pennsylvania's own 28th Division which is now in action in France.
At New Kensington, the Governor said at an American Legion Armistice Day celebration last night that the time has arrived to strike for final victory in Europe.
"The hour has come to drive home the final blow," he asserted. "We can help here at home. We must mine more coal, produce more food and make more equipment. We must send encouraging letters to our sons and daughters in the services. We must buy more war bonds."
Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes, head of the Third Service Command which includes Pennsylvania, said all the command's activities today would be dedicated "to the memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice in World War I and World War II."
Help Win War
He urged military and service personnel to rededicate themselves to "intensified vigor and determination to perform our own particular duties no matter how large or how small so that our combined efforts will assist the Allied forces to win victory and peace."
In Pittsburgh, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars planned a mammoth parade of veterans and of active Army units under the command of Lucius McK. Crumrine. The post band of Camp Reynolds in northwestern Pennsylvania will participate.
Gold star mothers, wounded servicemen from Decatur Army hospital at Butler, and patriotic dignitaries will be guests of honor at a dinner after the Pittsburgh celebration.
HOSPITAL REPORT
Mrs. Schuster Whitmore, Detroit, Md.; Mrs. Ray Wachter, Rocky Ridge, Md.; Mrs. George F. Rosensteel, Emmitsburg, and Mrs. Edward Smiley, Biglerville R. 1, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Those discharged were Mrs. Leo F. Jacoby and infant son, Richard Owen, West Middle street; Ray L. Oswald, Jr., Mansfield, Ohio, and Mrs. Francis Yingling, Buford avenue.

Upper Communities

Mr. and Mrs. C. Edgar Moose, of Goodyear, had as guests, recently Mrs. Moose's brother-in-law and sister, Sgt. and Mrs. Ray E. Golden and sons, Ray, Jr., and Richard, of Gettysburg, and brother and sister-in-law, S. I. C. and Mrs. Albert L. Wolford of Davisville, R. 2.
At a recent meeting of the Senior Home Economics club of Biglerville high school the following were initiated: Betty Lou Thomas, Jeanne Fetters, Treva Lady, Nadine Lupp, Betty Slaybaugh, June Condon and Patricia McCarthy. Betty Lou Thomas was elected president.
Harry Geiselman will lead the Christian Endeavor society of the Biglerville United Brethren church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Rodney Shaffer, who will be the guest speaker, will talk on "Snaring Our Daily Bread."
Miss Helen Lower, Cynwood, is spending the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Elson G. Lower, Table Rock.
Plans for a Christmas bazaar were made at the November meeting of the Friendly Circle class of Christ Lutheran Sunday school, Aspers, Friday evening at the home of the class teacher, Mrs. Willis Weigle. Mrs. Albert Krouse, president of the class, is serving as chairman on arrangements.
Mr. and Mrs. William P. Slaybaugh, Biglerville, have received a certificate certifying their son, Cpl. Harold Slaybaugh, was a member of the 29th Infantry Division on D-Day, June 6, and served with it continuously until the capture of St. Lo on July 18. The certificate is signed by the commanding officer, Maj. Gen. C. H. Gerhardt.
Estimate Truck Damage At $200
State police today estimated at $200 the damage caused to a trailer-tractor truck which left the Emmitsburg road about seven miles south of Gettysburg Friday noon and ran into a field.
The driver of the truck, Ray L. Oswald, Mansfield, Ohio, was discharged Friday afternoon from the Warner hospital where he had been taken for treatment. Dr. Bruce N. Wolff said he had suffered from a contused chest.
The accident occurred, Oswald said, when the steering apparatus on his truck failed as he tried to negotiate a turn in the road. The truck ran into a ditch, knocked over a tree and came to rest in a field. The truck was transporting a load of government furniture from St. Louis, Mo., to Washington, D. C.
Church Meddler Pays Fine Of $1
Logan Brent, 20, Gettysburg R. 3, was fined $1 and costs and ordered to stay with his parents following a hearing Friday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of disorderly conduct.
The information was filed by Borough Officer Lloyd E. Wisler who took Brent into custody about 8 o'clock Friday morning as he played and sang at the keyboard of the organ in the gallery of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church.
Special Services At Mummansburg Church
The Rev. Henry Y. King, Arthur, Illinois, evangelist, will preach at the Union church, Mummansburg, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.
A series of services conducted by the Rev. William Yoder, Middlebury, Ind., will start Monday evening. The public is invited to all services.
Rites Today For Frederick Yount
Funeral services for Frederick H. Yount, 67, who died Wednesday morning from a heart attack at his home at Grosse Point, Detroit, Mich., will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Bender funeral home conducted by the Rev. R. R. Gresh. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.
The pallbearers will be Fred Sanders, Joseph Codori, John Slentz, Harry Garvin, Harry Gerlach and Guyon Buehler.
Coatesville, Pa., Nov. 11 (AP)—Charles H. Sheppard, 59, former city auditor of Wilmington, Delaware, and former Wilmington Republican leader, died in a hospital here last night.
Wilmington, Del., Nov. 11 (AP)—Two bandits escaped with $600 in cash and four checks from a downtown liquor store last night after firing a revolver at the proprietor, Edie Edes, 52, who was not hit.
Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Ambassador Mehmet Munir Ertegun, of Turkey, dean of the Washington diplomatic corps, died early today. Sixty-one years old, he suffered a heart attack 12 days ago and since had been under the care of physicians at the embassy.
London, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Finnish radio announced today that Juho Paasilkivi, veteran peace envoy and friendly to Soviet Russia, had accepted the premiership in a new Finnish government.

to the tremendous industrial and financial strength of the United States and its opportunities and responsibilities in developing world trade and industry. He said there is a need for world economic conference on world trade problems.
Welfare, Education, Health
Mrs. Ellen T. Buehler, leader in local welfare organizations, declared that "when our hearts follow through with our minds in world problems, that's social service." She proposed that international heads of such groups as the YWCA, Soroptimists, Rotary, Lions and the church should have a voice in the social and economic council to coordinate welfare work on an international scope.
Miss Dorothy M. Warner, county supervisor of special education, said the establishment of an international office of education is being advocated in many quarters for research and advisory purposes. She suggested international art and music displays and festivals and the surveillance of world textbooks to discover teachings that would threaten world peace. She also said there must be provision made for new teachers in Axis countries to replace pre-war instructors whose doctrines cannot be permitted to threaten future peace.
Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, county medical society head, discussed the relation between international unity and health, observing that the integrity and strength of a nation is affected by its health. Great strides could be made internationally in health education and nutrition and in the prevention and control of disease by an international organization.
Dr. Dwight F. Putman, Christ Lutheran pastor, declared religion is concerned with the promotion of all worthwhile moves for world peace. He declared "cooperation" is the crucial need in world affairs and warned of the necessity for care in applying the label of "peace-loving" to nations to be admitted to the United Nations group. Common bonds must be sought among the faiths of the world and petty differences forgotten.
Capt. Laurence Thomas, PW camp the islands.
commandant here, asserted the need for some force to maintain peace and said an international army might operate as a municipal fire department—"not to start fires but to be able to get on the scene quickly and with the equipment necessary to control them promptly." No point on the earth's surface is more than 26 hours away, he observed.
In answer to questions Captain Thomas said the international army would be made up of United Nations troops and would not involve our keeping large armies overseas indefinitely.
Labor's place in the world affairs, the question of what attention was paid at Dumbarton to the Atlantic Charter—and the opportunity for world leadership by religious forces were discussed after questions from the audience.
"Absolute Justice"
Judge Sheely briefly summarized the discussion and observed that while peace is desired by most of the world's peoples it is difficult to determine the proper basis for that peace and to define the "absolute justice" on which that peace could be based.
Opening devotions were conducted by the Rev. Howard S. Fox, Trinity church-pastor, and there were two anthems by the junior choir of St. James Lutheran church under the direction of Prof. Richard B. Shade. An offering for world relief work was received.

No Good Reason For Fag Shortage

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—There is no good reason for an acute cigarette shortage at this time, says Thomas I. Emerson, enforcement chief of the Office of Price Administration.

Emerson attributes the present cigarette shortage to two possible causes: an increase in smoking and hoarding by the public.

While production of cigarettes this year for domestic consumption is less than in 1943, it is greater than in 1942, he says.

Expressing concern over what he termed a "growing black market in cigarettes," Emerson said that OPA field officers have been instructed to take immediate action to meet the situation.

Dealers Decline To Handle Turkeys

Philadelphia, Nov. 11 (AP)—Fifteen hundred Philadelphia meat and poultry retailers announced yesterday, through Arthur E. Dennis, that they will sell no turkeys for the holidays because "we don't want counsel for the Associated Butchers, black market business."

"We cannot buy turkeys at ceiling prices," Dennis said. "And turkeys are so scarce that * * * we would be competing with the government for the supply needed for men in service. Instead, we will try to persuade our customers to take other poultry."

Approximately 6,000,000 women were in war work at the end of 1943.

CIVIC LEADERS TO MEET HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Several civic leaders from Gettysburg are expected to meet with the leaders from other communities in Cumberland, Adams, Fulton, Franklin and York counties in Gettysburg on November 14, for discussion of war, postwar and general community work.

This district organization conference is called jointly by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, and the Pennsylvania Commercial Secretaries Association, with the Gettysburg, York, Carlisle, and Chambersburg Chambers cooperating. Many of the delegates will have dinner together at 6:30 p. m. at Hotel Gettysburg. The business session will start at 7:30 p. m.

Principal Speakers

The business session will consist of three short talks given by G. I. Chadwick, of the Carlisle Chamber; E. A. Hirschman, of the York Chamber, and E. D. Bacon, of the state Chamber. They will describe the work that community organizations should do in wartime, suggest various methods of performing it, and discuss the importance of such activities. These talks will be followed by an extended round table discussion of matters affecting the towns and cities of this area. The representatives from local communities will be encouraged to take part in the round table discussion, discussing their particular problems and the opportunities presented in this section of the state, as well as the necessity for action on the important state and national questions that face all citizens.

It is anticipated that from 15 to 20 different communities will be represented at the meeting. Members of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce are urged to attend and to make reservations at once through their local office.

MARTIN ASKS LASTING PEACE IN TALK TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

Pennsylvania observed Armistice Day today, once again paying earnest tribute to men who fought in a war which ended 26 years ago.

An overtone of solemnity dominated the occasion, as victorious warriors of World War I joined fellow citizens in praying for the welfare of tens of thousands of Keystone state servicemen fighting on battlefronts the world over.

Communities throughout the commonwealth, led by veterans and patriotic organizations, took part in activities honoring the fighting men and women of both wars. At 11 a. m., citizens paused in their tasks to honor the fallen dead.

Gov. Edward Martin speaking at a program at his home town, Washington, Pa., called for a lasting peace despite what he termed "a swing against religious ideals."

Paganism Trend

"There is a growing tendency toward paganism and a new dark age of the spirit in all the old world," he declared.

This must not influence the writing of the peace agreement, said the former major general of Pennsylvania's own 28th Division which is now in action in France.

At New Kensington, the Governor said at an American Legion Armistice Day celebration last night that the time has arrived to strike for final victory in Europe.

"The hour has come to drive home the final blows," he asserted. "We can help here at home. We must mine more coal, produce more food and make more equipment. We must send encouraging letters to our sons and daughters in the services. We must buy more war bonds."

Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes, head of the Third Service Command which includes Pennsylvania, said all the command's activities today would be dedicated "to the memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice in World War I and World War II."

He urged military and service personnel to rededicate themselves to "intensified vigor and determination to perform our own particular duties no matter how large or how small so that our combined efforts will assist the Allied forces to win victory and peace."

In Pittsburgh, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars planned a mammoth parade of veterans and of active Army units under the command of Lucius McK. Crumrine. The post band of Camp Reynolds in northwestern Pennsylvania will participate.

Gold star mothers, wounded servicemen from Deshon Army hospital at Butler and patriotic dignitaries will be guests of honor at a dinner after the Pittsburgh celebration.

Plans for a Christmas bazaar were made at the November meeting of the Friendly Circle class of Christ Lutheran Sunday school, Aspers, Friday evening at the home of the class teacher, Mrs. Willis Weigle. Mrs. Albert Knouse, president of the class, is serving as chairman on arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Slaybaugh, Biglerville, have received a certificate certifying their son, Cpl. Harold Slaybaugh, was a member of the 29th Infantry Division on D-Day, June 6, and served with it continuously until the capture of St. Lo on July 18. The certificate is signed by the commanding officer, Maj. Gen. C. H. Gerhardt.

Estimate Truck Damage At $200

State police today estimated at $200 the damage caused to a trailer-truck which left the Emmitsburg road about seven miles south of Gettysburg Friday noon and ran into a field.

The driver of the truck, Ray L. Oswalt, Mansfield, Ohio, was discharged Friday afternoon from the Warner hospital where he had been taken for treatment. Dr. Bruce N. Wolff said he had suffered from a contused chest.

The accident occurred, Oswalt said, when the steering apparatus on his truck failed as he tried to negotiate a turn in the road. The truck ran into a ditch, knocked over a tree and came to rest in a field. The truck was transporting a load of government furniture from St. Louis, Mo., to Washington, D. C.

Church Meddler Pays Fine Of $1

Logan Brent, 20, Gettysburg R. 3, was fined $1 and costs and ordered to stay with his parents following a hearing Friday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The information was filed by Borough Officer Lloyd E. Wisler who took Brent into custody about 8 o'clock Friday morning as he played and sang at the keyboard of the organ in the gallery of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church.

Actress Misses New York Show

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—Ethel Barrymore missed the first New York appearance of her 50-year stage career last night when, ill with gripe, she was ordered to bed by her physician. The performance of "Embezzled Heaven," in which she is appearing, was cancelled.

Ill since last Sunday, the actress had a 103 degree temperature yesterday, Dr. Louis R. Kaufman, her physician, informed the Theater Guild which is presenting the play.

AIR MEDAL AWARDED TO LT. TROXELL

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Troxell, 429 Baltimore street, have been notified by the War department that the Air Medal has been awarded to their son, Second Lieutenant Fred R. Troxell, for a flight he made against the enemy in Italy on February 2, four days before he was reported missing in aerial action north of Rome.

The citation accompanying the medal which has been sent to the Third Service Command and later will be presented to the parents of the missing flyer, follows:

"For meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flight as pilot of an A-36 (Invasion light bomber) type aircraft. On February 2, 1944, Lt. Troxell flew in an attack upon Bitibro airfield, Italy. Skillfully maneuvering through a heavy overcast and intense anti-aircraft fire upon the approach to the target area, Lt. Troxell damaged one aircraft and four trucks and his comrades damaged two aircraft, a locomotive, two radio towers and 12 trucks heavily laden with supplies.

"His proficiency in combat reflects great credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States."

Dropped Out of Formation

Previously the Army Air Forces had forwarded to Mr. and Mrs. Troxell some details of the mission from which his plane failed to return.

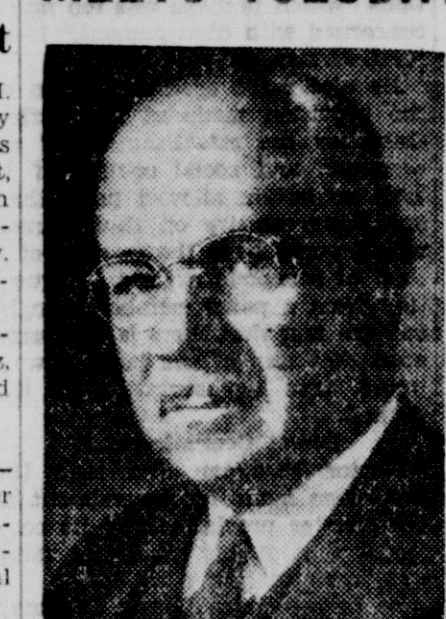

The War department letter disclosed that young Troxell was sent on a strafing mission over Italy in a light bomber on February 6. During this mission north of Rome, Troxell's bomber dropped behind the formation and the accompanying planes lost sight of him about 4:15 p. m., approximately two miles north of Capranica, Italy. The report of the other flyers stated that Troxell was in no apparent difficulty when last seen. Other circumstances surrounding the disappearance of the plane are unknown.

Enroute to Base

Troxell was alone in his plane at the time. The other flyers in the formation reported the flight was returning toward its home base and that they lost sight of Troxell's ship "just before we turned left onto the last leg of our mission and out to sea."

The parents have been assured that a continuing search for missing personnel is being made by land, sea and air and that as our armies advance into territory previously occupied by the enemy, special troops are assigned to the search for missing flyers.

to the tremendous industrial and financial strength of the United States and its opportunities and responsibilities in developing world trade and industry. He said there is a need for world economic conference on world trade problems.

Welfare, Education, Health

Mrs. Ellen T. Buehler, leader in local welfare organizations, declared that "when our hearts follow through with our minds in world problems, that's social service." She proposed that international heads of such groups as the YWCA, Scouting, Rotary, Lions and the church should have a voice in the social and economic council to coordinate welfare work on an international scope.

Miss Dorothy M. Warner, county supervisor of special education, said the establishment of an international office of education is being advocated in many quarters for research and advisory purposes. She suggested international art and music displays and festivals and the surveillance of world textbooks to discover teachings that would threaten world peace. She also said there must be provision made for new teachers in Axis countries to replace pre-war instructors whose doctrines cannot be permitted to threaten future peace.

Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, county medical society head, discussed the relation between international unity and health, observing that the integrity and strength of a nation is affected by its health. Great strides could be made internationally in health education and nutrition and in the prevention and control of disease by an international organization.

Dr. Dwight F. Putnam, Christ Lutheran pastor, declared religion is concerned with the promotion of all worthwhile moves for world peace. He declared "cooperation" is the crucial need in world affairs and warned of the necessity for care in applying the label of "peace-loving" to nations to be admitted to the United Nations group. Common bonds must be sought among the faiths of the world and petty differences forgotten.

Capt. Laurence Thomas, PW camp

commandant here, asserted the need for some force to maintain peace and said an international army might operate as a municipal fire department—"not to start fires but to be able to get on the scene quickly and with the equipment necessary to control them promptly." No point on the earth's surface is more than 36 hours away, he observed.

In answer to questions Captain Thomas said the international army would be made up of United Nations troops and would not involve our keeping large armies overseas indefinitely.

Labor's place in the world affairs, the question of what attention was paid at Dumbarton to the Atlantic Charter and the opportunity for world leadership by religious forces were discussed after questions from the audience.

"Absolute Justice"

Judge Sheely briefly summarized the discussion and observed that while peace is desired by most of the world's peoples it is difficult to determine the proper basis for that peace and to define the "absolute justice" on which that peace could be based.

Opening devotions were conducted by the Rev. Howard S. Fox, Trinity church pastor, and there were two anthems by the junior choir of St. James Lutheran church under the direction of Prof. Richard B. Shade. An offering for world relief work was received.

"HOME FRONT" MUST GIRD FOR BIG WAR TASKS

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst
Twenty-six years ago this Armistice Day I was on the British front in France waiting for the eleventh hour to end the hell which we called the World War, and my most enduring memory is the fantastically tragic circumstance that brave men were dying right up to the time of the order to cease fire.

Although we knew well before the armistice hour that the conflict was ending, the big guns continued to belch death. Fighting raged fiercely along the Allied fronts, until a few seconds before eleven when the thunder ceased and left great armies stunned with the strange silence.

There is, I believe, a great lesson in this for us today as the Allies grid themselves for the coup de grace which cannot long be deferred. We must realize that even though the defeat of our enemies is inevitable, our men must continue to risk their lives until the "cease fire" is given.

Home Front Needed

The moral is that we on the home front must jump in now and keep our forces supplied with the wherewithal to end this bloody business quickly. There's tough fighting still to be done. In all theaters are signs of a desperate last ditch stand by our enemies.

On the western front the Germans are battling fanatically to block Allied preparations for a general offensive. The United Nations are attacking to improve their positions for the big day, and this spade work is going on from Holland to the Swiss border. It's hard work, for if the troops aren't battling in water to their middles they probably are knee deep in clinging mud. The fighting is particularly heavy in the Metz sector where General Patton is staging a large offensive to secure German key communications east of that stronghold.

Out of this bitter struggle for position is emerging a compact front from which General Eisenhower can launch his crucial drive.

Death In Orient

In the Orient the Japs are rushing to battle. Despite the brilliant beginning of our invasion of Leyte, the Nipponese have succeeded in replacing their heavy losses there, and a great battle is joined. The fight for the Philippines may be hard and long, though we shall win.

So it goes. Secretary of War Stimson says of the western theater that American soldiers "know it is going to be difficult and costly to carry out the large scale offensives which will be necessary to bring us victory." He also declares "Japan is going to fight in the Philippines to the bitter end." And Lt. Gen. Vandegrift, Marine Corps commandant, tells us the toughest part of the Japanese war is ahead, and that "the coming year will be the supreme test."

With all this before us it's easy to see that we are at that crucial stage of the global war where our fighting forces are going to need vast supplies of all sorts from the home front if the war is to be speeded up. Shortage of supplies—and there have been shortages—mean delay in forcing the enemy to his knees.

We need only this much more for a complete picture: Lt. Col. P. H. Higgins, U. S. Army Ordnance officer, stated in a speech in Toronto this week that on the western front it had been necessary to ration shells used in 240-mm guns. "It is very important," he warned "that we supply General Eisenhower's men with all the shells they need."

No Good Reason For Fag Shortage

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—There is no good reason for an acute cigarette shortage at this time, says Thomas I. Emerson, enforcement chief of the Office of Price Administration.

Emerson attributes the present cigarette shortage to two possible causes: an increase in smoking and hoarding by the public.

While production of cigarettes this year for domestic consumption is less than in 1943, it is greater than in 1942, he says.

Expressing concern over what he termed a "growing black market in cigarettes," Emerson said that OPA field officers have been instructed to take immediate action to meet the situation.

Dealers Decline To Handle Turkeys

Philadelphia, Nov. 11 (AP)—Fifteen hundred Philadelphia meat and poultry retailers announced yesterday, through Arthur E. Dennis, that they will sell no turkeys for the holidays because "we don't want counsel for the Associated Butchers, black market business."

"We cannot buy turkeys at ceiling prices," Dennis said. "And turkeys are so scarce that * * * we would be competing with the government for the supply needed for men in service. Instead, we will try to persuade our customers to take other poultry."

Approximately 6,000,000 women were in war work at the end of 1943.

CIVIC LEADERS TO MEET HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Several civic leaders from Gettysburg are expected to meet with the leaders from other communities in Cumberland, Adams, Fulton, Franklin and York counties in Gettysburg on November 14, for discussion of war, postwar and general community work.

This district organization conference is called jointly by the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, and the Pennsylvania Commercial Secretaries Association, with the Gettysburg, York, Carlisle, and Chambersburg Chambers cooperating. Many of the delegates will have dinner together at 6:30 p. m. at Hotel Gettysburg. The business session will start at 7:30 p. m.

Principal Speakers

The business session will consist of three short talks given by G. I. Chadwick, of the Carlisle Chamber; E. A. Hirschman, of the York Chamber, and E. D. Bacon, of the state Chamber. They will describe the work that community organizations should do in wartime, suggest various methods of performing it, and discuss the importance of such activities. These talks will be followed by an extended round table discussion of matters affecting the towns and cities of this area. The representatives from local communities will be encouraged to take part in the round table discussion, discussing their particular problems and the opportunities presented in this section of the state, as well as the necessity for action on the important state and national questions that face all citizens.

It is anticipated that from 15 to 20 different communities will be represented at the meeting.

Members of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce are urged to attend and to make reservations at once through their local office.

MARTIN ASKS LASTING PEACE IN TALK TODAY

(By The Associated Press)
Pennsylvania observed Armistice Day today, once again paying earnest tribute to men who fought in a war which ended 26 years ago.

An overtone of solemnity dominated the occasion, as victorious warriors of World War I joined fellow citizens in praying for the welfare of tens of thousands of Keystone state servicemen fighting on battlefronts the world over.

Communities throughout the commonwealth, led by veterans and patriotic organizations, took part in activities honoring the fighting men and women of both wars. At 11 a. m., citizens paused in their tasks to honor the fallen dead.

Gov. Edward Martin speaking at a program at his home town, Washington, Pa., called for a lasting peace despite what he termed "a swing against religious ideals."

Paganism Trend
"There is a growing tendency toward paganism and a new dark age of the spirit in all the old world," he declared.

This must not influence the writing of the peace agreement, said the former major general of Pennsylvania's own 28th Division which is now in action in France.

At New Kensington, the Governor said at an American Legion Armistice Day celebration last night that the time has arrived to strike for final victory in Europe.

"The hour has come to drive home the final blows," he asserted. "We can help here at home. We must mine more coal, produce more food and make more equipment. We must send encouraging letters to our sons and daughters in the services. We must buy more war bonds."

Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes, head of the Third Service Command which includes Pennsylvania, said all the command's activities today would be dedicated "to the memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice in World War I and World War II."

Help Win War

He urged military and service personnel to rededicate themselves to "intensified vigor and determination to perform our own particular duties no matter how large or how small so that our combined efforts will assist the Allied forces to win victory and peace."

In Pittsburgh, the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars planned a mammoth parade of veterans and of active Army units under the command of Lucius McK. Crumrine. The post band of Camp Reynolds in northwestern Pennsylvania will participate.

Gold star mothers, wounded servicemen from Deshon Army hospital at Butler and patriotic dignitaries will be guests of honor at a dinner after the Pittsburgh celebration.

HOSPITAL REPORT

Mrs. Sylvester Whitmore, Detour, Md.; Mrs. Ray Wachter, Rocky Ridge, Md.; Mrs. George F. Rosensteel, Emmitsburg, and Mrs. Edward Singley, Biglerville R. 1, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Those discharged were Mrs. Leo F. Jacoby and infant son, Richard Owen, West Middle street; Ray L. Oswald, Jr., Mansfield, Ohio, and Mrs. Francis Yingling, Buford avenue.

Upper Communities

Mr. and Mrs. C. Edgar Moose, of Goodyear, had as guests recently Mrs. Moose's brother-in-law and sister, Sgt. and Mrs. Ray E. Golden and sons, Ray, Jr., and Richard, of Gettysburg, and brother and sister-in-law, S. I. C. and Mrs. Albert L. Wolford of Davisville, R. 2.

At a recent meeting of the Senior Home Economics club of Biglerville high school the following were initiated: Betty Lou Thomas, Jeanne Peters, Treva Lady, Nadine Lupp, Betty Slaybaugh, June Coulson and Patricia McCarthy. Betty Lou Thomas was elected president.

Harry Geiselman will lead the Christian Endeavor society of the Biglerville United Brethren church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Rodney Shaffer, who will be the guest speaker, will talk on "Sharing Our Daily Bread."

Miss Helen Lower, Cynwood, is spending the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Elson G. Lower, Table Rock.

Plans for a Christmas bazaar were made at the November meeting of the Friendly Circle class of Christ Lutheran Sunday school, Aspers, Friday evening at the home of the class teacher, Mrs. Willis Weigle. Mrs. Albert Knouse, president of the class, is serving as chairman on arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. William P. Slaybaugh, Biglerville, have received a certificate certifying their son, Cpl. Harold Slaybaugh, was a member of the 29th Infantry Division on D-Day, June 6, and served with it continuously until the capture of St. Lo on July 18. The certificate is signed by the commanding officer, Maj. Gen. C. H. Gerhard.

Estimate Truck Damage At $200

State police today estimated at $200 the damage caused to a trailer-truck which left the Emmitsburg road about seven miles south of Gettysburg Friday noon and ran into a field.

The driver of the truck, Ray L. Oswald, Mansfield, Ohio, was discharged Friday afternoon from the Warner hospital where he had been taken for treatment. Dr. Bruce N. Wolff said he had suffered from a contused chest.

The accident occurred, Oswald said, when the steering apparatus on his truck failed as he tried to negotiate a turn in the road. The truck ran into a ditch, knocked over a tree and came to rest in a field. The truck was transporting a load of government furniture from St. Louis, Mo., to Washington, D. C.

Church Meddler Pays Fine Of $1

Logan Brent, 20, Gettysburg R. 3, was fined $1 and costs and ordered to stay with his parents following a hearing Friday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder on a charge of disorderly conduct.

The information was filed by Borough Officer Lloyd E. Wisler who took Brent into custody about 8 o'clock Friday morning as he played and sang at the keyboard of the organ in the gallery of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church.

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 11 (AP)—Two bandits escaped with $600 in cash and four checks from a downtown liquor store last night after firing a revolver at the proprietor, Ed Edes, 52, who was not hit.

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Ambassador Mehmet Munir Ertegun of Turkey, died of the Washington diplomatic corps, died early today. Sixty-one years old, he suffered a heart attack 12 days ago and since had been under the care of physicians at the embassy.

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—The Finnish radio announced today that Juho Paasilkivi, veteran peace envoy and friendly to Soviet Russia, had accepted the premiership in a new Finnish government.

Actress Misses New York Show

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—Ethel Barrymore missed the first New York appearance of her 50-year stage career last night when, ill with gripe, she was ordered to bed by her physician. The performance of "Embezzled Heaven," in which she is appearing, was cancelled.

Ill since last Sunday, the actress had a 103 degree temperature yesterday, Dr. Louis R. Kaufman, her physician, informed the Theater Guild which is presenting the play.

AIR MEDAL AWARDED TO LT. TROXELL

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Troxell, 429 Baltimore street, have been notified by the War department that the Air Medal has been awarded to their son, Second Lieutenant Fred R. Troxell, for a flight he made against the enemy in Italy on February 2, four days before he was reported missing in aerial action north of Rome.

The citation accompanying the medal which has been sent to the Third Service Command and later will be presented to the parents of the missing flyer, follows:

"For meritorious achievement while participating in aerial flight as pilot of an A-36 (Invader light bomber) type aircraft. On February 2, 1944, Lt. Troxell flew in an attack upon Bitubro airfield, Italy. Skillfully maneuvering through a heavy overcast and intense anti-aircraft fire upon the approach to the target area, Lt. Troxell damaged one aircraft and four trucks and his comrades damaged two aircraft, a locomotive, two radio towers and 12 trucks heavily laden with supplies.

"His proficiency in combat reflects great credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States."

Dropped Out of Formation
Previously the Army Air Forces had forwarded to Mr. and Mrs. Troxell some details of the mission from which his plane failed to return.

The War department letter disclosed that young Troxell was sent on a strafing mission over Italy in a light bomber on February 6.

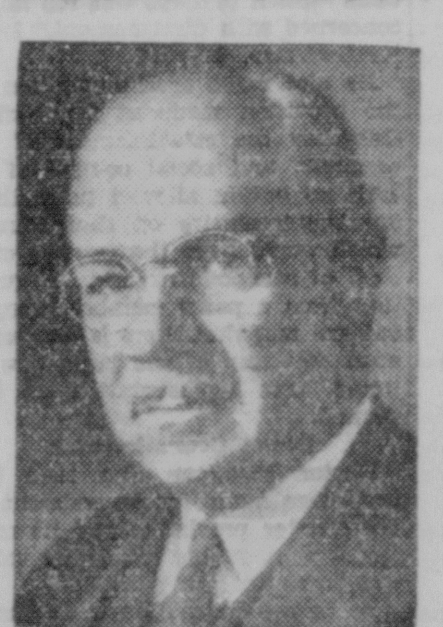

During this mission north of Rome, Troxell's bomber dropped behind the formation and the accompanying planes lost sight of him about 4:15 p. m., approximately two miles north of Capranica, Italy. The report of the other flyers stated that Troxell was in no apparent difficulty when last seen. Other circumstances surrounding the disappearance of the plane are unknown.

Enroute to Base
Troxell was alone in his plane at the time. The other flyers in the formation reported the flight was returning toward its home base and that they lost sight of Troxell's ship "just before we turned left onto the last leg of our mission and out to sea."

The parents have been assured that a continuing search for missing personnel is being made by land, sea and air and that as our armies advance into territory previously occupied by the enemy, special troops are assigned to the search for missing flyers.

The information was filed by Borough Officer Lloyd E. Wisler who took Brent into custody about 8 o'clock Friday morning as he played and sang at the keyboard of the organ in the gallery of St. Francis Xavier Catholic church.

UPPER LIONS MEETS TUESDAY

CARLTON F. STURDY

Carlton F. Sturdy will be the speaker at the meeting of the Upper Adams County Lions club which will be held at the Battlefield hotel Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

Mr. Sturdy represents the American Can company and travels throughout the country, speaking from lecture platforms and broadcasting stations on whatever phase of the food question is currently in the public eye.

The program has been arranged by J. P. Hollabaugh of Biglerville. Mr. Sturdy addressed a meeting of the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce here several months ago.

The population of the Philippines is 17,000,000.

to the tremendous industrial and financial strength of the United States and its opportunities and responsibilities in developing world trade and industry. He said there is a need for world economic conference on world trade problems.

Welfare, Education, Health
Mrs. Ellen T. Buehler, leader in local welfare organizations, declared that "when our hearts follow through with our minds in world problems, that's social service." She proposed that international heads of such groups as the YWCA, Scroptimists, Rotary, Lions and the church should have a voice in the social and economic council to coordinate welfare work on an international scope.

Miss Dorothy M. Warner, county supervisor of special education, said the establishment of an international office of education is being advocated in many quarters for research and advisory purposes. She suggested international art and music displays and festivals and the surveillance of world textbooks to discover teachings that would threaten world peace. She also said there must be provision made for new teachers in Axis countries to replace pre-war instructors whose doctrines cannot be permitted to threaten future peace.

Dr. Raymond F. Sheely, county medical society head, discussed the relation between international unity and health, observing that the integrity and strength of a nation is affected by its health. Great strides could be made internationally in health education and nutrition and in the prevention and control of disease by an international organization.

Dr. Dwight F. Putman, Christ Lutheran pastor, declared religion is concerned with the promotion of all worthwhile moves for world peace. He declared "cooperation" is the crucial need in world affairs and warned of the necessity for care in applying the label of "peace-loving" to nations to be admitted to the United Nations group. Common bonds must be sought among the faiths of the world and petty differences forgotten.

Capt. Laurence Thomas, PW camp

commandant here, asserted the need for some force to maintain peace and said an international army might operate as a municipal fire department—"not to start fires but to be able to get on the scene quickly and with the equipment necessary to control them promptly." No point on the earth's surface is more than 36 hours away, he observed.

In answer to questions Captain Thomas said the international army would be made up of United Nations troops and would not involve our keeping large armies overseas indefinitely.

Labor's place in the world affairs, the question of what attention was paid at Dumbarton to the Atlantic Charter and the opportunity for world leadership by religious forces were discussed after questions from the audience.

"Absolute Justice"

Judge Sheely briefly summarized the discussion and observed that while peace is desired by most of the world's peoples it is difficult to determine the proper basis for that peace and to define the "absolute justice" on which that peace could be based.

Opening devotions were conducted by the Rev. Howard S. Fox, Trinity church pastor, and there were two anthems by the junior choir of St. James Lutheran church under the direction of Prof. Richard B. Shade. An offering for world relief work was received.

TO READ POETRY

The weekly Sunday evening musicale at the SCA building on the campus will be devoted this week entirely to the reading of poetry by Dr. Francis C. Mason of the college faculty. The program will begin at 9 o'clock. No musical program is scheduled.

NANKING GETS PASTING FROM HUGE BOMBERS

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Japanese-controlled Nanking, China, felt the blows of B-29 Superfortresses today, while a Japanese broadcast claimed other formations of air giants had raided the islands of Kyushu and Saishu.

A war department communique said a large task force of China-based planes bombed docks and warehouses at Nanking. Details of the damage inflicted were not made known, but the War department said further information would be given as soon as available.

An Imperial Japanese communique, broadcast by the Domei agency and recorded by the Federal communications commission, asserted that 80 of the Superfortresses had struck at the two home islands about 10 a. m. Saturday (Tokyo Time).

The bombers caused only "slight damage" and "fed after blindly dropping bombs from above the clouds," the broadcast said.

Daylight Assault

Kyushu is the southernmost of the Japanese home islands, Saishu, just below the southern tip of Korea, is about 150 miles to the west.

The Superfortresses flew through daylight to accomplish their mission against Nanking, the War department said. It was the second major daylight operation by planes of the 26th air force within a week, after India-based craft having struck on November 3 at installations at Singapore, at the tip of the Malay peninsula, and at an oil refinery at Pangkalan-Brandon on the North coast of Sumatra.

Today's War department announcement, made no mention of any raids other than against Nanking.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, in his capacity as commanding general of the 20th air force, stated at war department headquarters that the Nanking attack was staged by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Le May's bomber command.

Nanking, located 223 miles inland from Shanghai, near where the Yangtze empties into the east China sea, is the seat of populous Kiangsu province and headquarters for a Japanese-controlled puppet government.

York Springs

York Springs.—Mrs. Evelyn Finley, Waynesboro, formerly of here, was a visitor in this section recently.

"Shorty Fincher and His Prairie Pals" will entertain at the community fire hall Wednesday evening for the benefit of the local fire company.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship Council met during the week at the home of the minister, the Rev. Earl N. Rowe.

Mrs. Hollis Mueller was hostess during the week when the local Home Economics group held its regular meeting at her home.

The local Girl Scout troop attended a scout celebration at Dillsburg during the past week.

Property Transfers

Two deeds and four rights of way were filed this morning at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner at the court house. The deeds included:

Jerome L. and Lottie S. Small, Hanover, to John T. and Alice J. Utz, West Manheim township, York county, a property on the Hanover-Littlestown road in Conewago township.

Elwood P. and Margaret M. Hoffman, McSherrystown, to George A. and Marguerite P. Blair, McSherrystown, a property on the East side of Church (or Second) street, McSherrystown.

The rights of way were all in favor of the Metropolitan Edison company, and included the following properties:

Howard L. and Mary E. Bowling, Mount Joy township, a property on the Germantown-Kingsdale road.

Herbert H. and Lida M. Crouse, Hanover, a property in Mount Joy township.

William A. and Louise E. Bosserman, a property on the Carlisle-Baltimore pike in Hamilton township.

Earle Miller, Hanover, for a property in Conewago township.

British Subs Sink 45 Jap Vessels

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—British submarines sank 45 Japanese vessels in far eastern waters in recent weeks, an Admiralty communique announced today.

A communique said the toll included one large and one medium-sized supply ship, a submarine and three landing craft. In addition a medium-sized supply ship and a minesweeper were probably sunk and 14 supply vessels damaged.

The large supply ship, which was sunk by a torpedo, was intercepted while under escort near Padang, off the west coast of Sumatra.

Other sinkings occurred off Sabang, where the Royal Navy submarines fought a brisk gun battle with a Japanese convoy of 12 small supply ships. In another action in the same area an enemy minesweeper was sunk.

Meet Powerful Defense In Italy

Rome, Nov. 11 (AP)—Eighth Army troops, driving ahead north of captured Forlì, smashed into strong German tank and infantry defenses today along a canal running from the northwest corner of the Bologna-Rimini highway town.

Snow has fallen over both the Fifth and Eighth Army fronts to a depth of nine inches in some places and on the Eighth Army front heavy drifts interrupted communications in the hills.

Southwest of Forlì the Germans have taken up positions along the Montone river, Castrocaro, about five miles southwest of Forlì, has been evacuated by the Nazis but they are holding tenaciously in the hills to the west.

On the Fifth Army front due south of Bologna there was aggressive patrolling yesterday punctuated by German artillery fire. Indian troops scored an advance in occupying Monte Bucarallo, 2,000 foot feature east of the Faenza road.

CHURCHILL AND EDEN IN PARIS

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden have flown to Paris to confer with Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Accompanied by Mrs. Churchill, Miss Mary Churchill, and government officials, they flew to France from an English field in a Douglas Dakota transport plane Friday afternoon.

The news of their trip was held up for security reasons until 11 a. m. (6 a. m. Eastern War Time) today—Armistice Day—the hour at which the first World War armistice began, Nov. 11, 1918.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent undersecretary for foreign affairs, and Nicholas Langford, Eden's private secretary, were in the group.

A buzzing swarm of Spitfires escorted the transport plane.

The Prime Minister went to Paris at the invitation of de Gaulle and the French government.

It was the first time since May 22, 1940, that Churchill had gone to France on a visit of state. Then he flew to Tours to confer with Premier Paul Reynaud and General Maxime Weygand as the Allies retreated and France tottered.

That was five days after he had offered France a solemn union that would have given France equal partnership in the British Empire. Churchill visited Normandy shortly after the invasion.

President Roosevelt is expected to accept an invitation to Paris later.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Miss Mary Altland, formerly of here, who has been residing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Edna Gooding, York, is spending some time with her brother, Melvin Altland, and family.

Mrs. George Oberlander, Jr., and daughter, Pamela, and Miss Louise Ellessor, York, were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. George Oberlander.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleason E. Smith spent the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. Fred V. Baker, and family. Miss Betty J. Butt, a student at Lebanon Valley College Conservatory of Music, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Grace B. Butt.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kroft, Davisburg, who moved from here last spring, announce the birth of a daughter. They have eight other children.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Levere Lau, Baltimore, and son, Joseph, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Jere Lau.

Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hertz, Jr., Harrisburg, has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Jacobs.

Word has been received of the birth of a son, Jeri Eugene, to Betty O'Leary and Mrs. J. Eugene Stumpf, Dover. The mother, the former Miss Dorothy Kunkle, was a graduate of the local high school in 1930.

Mrs. Wilbur Keener and son, Wilbur, have returned after spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Myers, Dillsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Boring, R. 1, entertained during the past week at their home in celebration of the fifth birthday of their daughter, Helen.

Mrs. Fred Diehl, Bedford county, the former Miss Irene E. Sinner, is reported in poor health. Her mother, Mrs. William A. Sinner, has been spending several weeks with her.

The service men from Trinity Lutheran congregation will be honored Sunday evening at a special church service. A similar service has been held each year since the war began. The Rev. Snyder Allen is pastor.

Mervin R. Lau, USA, has returned to his Missouri camp after a furlough at his home. Mrs. Lau returned with him to spend some time.

Mrs. D. Earl Wagner is a patient at the Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, where her condition is reported satisfactory after an operation.

Over only three American buildings does the flag fly officially night and day—over the Capitol and the adjacent House of Representatives and Senate office buildings.

U.S. EAGER TO SEE PEACE IN POLE-RED FUSS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—The United States was understood today to be standing firm on its policy of encouraging Poland and Russia to settle their differences but refusing to guarantee any specific settlement.

This appeared to be the situation as American officials studied the latest request for information and advice presented by the Polish government in exile in London through its ambassador, John Ciechanowski.

Ciechanowski called at the State department late yesterday after making a rush trip here from Chicago where he has been attending the International Aviation conference.

He declined to discuss the purpose of this sudden mission and State department officials likewise refused to disclose what events might be in the making.

However, recent dispatches from London have said that Churchill and Premier Stalin are pressing the London government of Poland to come to an early agreement of its territorial and political differences with Russia.

Stalin's trump cards are that the Red Army primarily is liberating Poland and that the Soviet-sponsored Polish Liberation committee is actually administering the freed territories of eastern Poland.

ASKS VETS AT PEACE TABLE

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Veterans of this war should sit at the peace table to assure the achievement of a lasting peace, Edward N. Scheiberling, national commander of the American Legion, said today.

In a speech prepared for Armistice Day ceremonies at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington National cemetery, Scheiberling asserted that America had broken its promises to this man and his comrades of the last war.

"This time," he declared, "we do not say that it must not happen again."

"This time we say that—under God—it shall not happen again."

"We cannot leave the making of peace to statesmen alone. This time we who have fought in the battles—we, the comrades of the unknown soldier, veterans of two wars, will help formulate the terms of an enduring peace. It can be done only by those of us who know the horrors of war."

The peace that was won after the first world war, said the Legion commander, was lost on the "altar of political expediency and public indifference," he said.

Load Hot Shells To Supply Demand

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 11 (AP)—Demand for artillery ammunition is so great that hot shells are being loaded into freight cars for overseas shipment as soon as the TNT inside them hardens. War Mobilization Director Byrnes said today.

He made this disclosure in an address prepared for Armistice Day.

"We must not let pride in our accomplishments blind us to the magnitude of our needs," Byrnes cautioned, explaining that "our present military shortages are not a product of our failure or our mistakes."

"They are a product of our successes," he added. "We are running months ahead of our military timetable. As a result we must obtain from our war factories material that was not scheduled for production until next March."

Want Russia To Cite Air Objective

Chicago, Nov. 11 (AP)—The International Civil Aviation conference entered the second half of its expected run today with the United States still pushing absent Russia into the forefront as a possible participant in the world air agreement being sought here by 51 nations.

The latest move in this country's determination to hold the door wide open for the Soviet, which called back its delegation when it was but a matter of hours by air from Chicago, was a request that one seat be added to the proposed executive council for a temporary aviation authority just in case Russia decided to come along and occupy it.

GUARD G. I. BALLOTS
Erie, Pa., Nov. 11 (AP)—Two deputy sheriffs appointed by the county commissioners will stand night guard over returned military ballots now locked in a safe in the courthouse, election officials reported today. The 4,371 soldier votes will be tabulated Nov. 22.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 11 (AP)—Walking on the sidewalk, William R. Donnelly, 23, was killed last night when struck by an automobile which mounted the curb after colliding with another vehicle. Four passengers in the cars were injured.

Snowstorms Fail To Stop Flyers

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Snowstorms over Germany failed to check the Allied air offensive today and big formations of bombers were reported hitting the Reich again from the west and south after two concentrated attacks on Hannover during the night.

The Nazi radio warning system said bombers were approaching from several westerly directions and that others were heading up over Bavaria.

The attacks on Hannover were made by RAF Mosquitos which flew through snow and sleet and dropped many tons of bombs, including more than thirty 4,000-pounders, on rail yards and factories.

Mosquitos also hit other objectives in the Ruhr.

One German plane was destroyed and one RAF fighter was missing.

Several of the 27 United States heavy bombers and seven fighters reported missing in yesterday's attacks in the Cologne and Frankfurt areas were believed to have landed in France.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir: It is about time that I write you this long overdue letter expressing to you my appreciation for sending to me the Service Men's edition of The Times.

I have received it very regularly since my induction into the service in July. It has certainly helped me to keep up to date on the home news. While I was at Bainbridge I showed the paper to quite a few people and they thought it a very public spirited and appreciative act.

Since I first received the paper I have been transferred and I am now stationed at Sampson, New York. I would appreciate it very much if you would now address my paper to the address given below.

Sincerely,

FARMERS SAY TURKEY CEILING PRICES TOO LOW

The prospect of a local shortage of dressed turkeys for Thanksgiving dinners appeared likely today when a checkup of poultrymen at the Farmers' Market disclosed that none would quote prices on dressed turkeys for Thanksgiving delivery.

The explanation was that the OPA-fixed ceiling prices which range downward from 62 cents per pound do not allow the grower enough margin above the liveweight price to make it profitable to dress the birds. County turkey growers are selling their birds liveweight for 43 to 45 cents a pound.

Turkey growers say that a margin of less than 20 cents is not enough between the two levels to offset the heavy weight loss in dressing and leave the grower any margin for the time spent in dressing the traditional Thanksgiving fowl.

"The liveweight ceiling is not high enough to begin with," one turkey grower said this morning. "Feed is $1 to $1.25 a hundred higher than last year and the ceiling price on the turkeys is almost the same."

Other Prices Stable

Pork prices were unchanged at market this morning and eggs continued at 56 cents at most stands. Cider was 30 cents per gallon and apple butter 50 cents a quart. Apples and pears were abundant at prices that have not changed in several weeks. Apple prices ranged downward from $4 for choice Stayman and Delicious to $1.50 and $2 for some other varieties and second grade Stayman and Delicious.

Dressed ducks sold for 50 cents per pound this morning. Dressed chicken prices ranged from 50 cents for old fowl to 58 cents per pound for young birds.

Home-grown celery could be had at 25 and 30 cents per bunch. Black walnut kernels brought 25 cents per quarter pound. Parsley was five cents a bunch.

Potato prices held at $2.75 to $3 per bushel.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—Robert K. Danner, representing the veterans of all wars, and connected with the War Man Power Commission, spent Thursday here on matters pertaining to his office. He has arranged to have Burgess Joseph R. Hoke act as chairman of a committee composed of the three town commissioners, Luther Kugler, Lloyd Oehler, and Austin Joy and Guy Nune-maker act as secretary, to assist in establishing returning soldiers in the kind of employment suitable to each, and to help develop a works program in the community to employ local labor following the war.

Mr. Danner said: "Our Frederick office will assist veterans with their claims, papers, hospitalization, and put him in touch with the rehabilitation program of the Veterans' Bureau, see that he is provided with work upon his return from the war, and in fact give him every assistance possible. He need only get in touch with us in Frederick or through the offices of the Burgess and Commissions in the local community." Mr. Danner will be at his Frederick office from 7 to 9 p. m. on Mondays in addition to the regular daylight hours during the week. Veterans unable to go to Frederick may call at the town office for information.

The G. I. Bill of Rights provides a maximum of $20 per week to a veteran for a definite period of time to enable him to secure employment or to adjust himself to a new life. It is required of the veteran to report to the Frederick office once each week for assignment to some kind of work providing the veteran is physically able to take employment.

Burgess Hoke said: "We do all we can to help our returning soldiers either directly or by cooperating with Mr. Danner, and we are now making plans to complete the main sewer lines, build an incinerator to take care of garbage disposal, and to surface several of the streets at the close of the war as a means of providing work for our returning soldiers."

The government of Eire has a house of representatives called Dail Eireann and a senate called Seanad Eireann.

Chapter 27
The last inspection. Tomorrow everyone would be packing, and early the following morning the ship would dock at Cardiff. The long line of stewards was immaculate, and none more so than Cherry in her stiff, clean uniform.

The last time. There is a sadness, a nostalgia, about the last time of doing anything. Most of the stewards would be signing on again with the Coromandel for the next round voyage; they were trying not to betray their delight at being nearly home. But for Cherry it was different.

She turned her head slightly and saw the long row of open cabin doors with the curtains neatly looped to one side. The white paint had been scrubbed spotless. There were no invalids left; the cabins were empty. Everyone was on deck, trying to make out the misty outlines of Northern Ireland. Seeing the alley like that, it reminded her of that first evening in Auckland, when the cabins had been so impersonal; when she had wondered who would inhabit them, and hoped desperately she could make good. She thought she had done that, anyway.

Even Julia had not tried to make trouble since the night of the alarm. It had done Julia a lot of good to realize that in the face of bigger things her moods meant just nothing at all. Like all bullies, she faded in when she met someone or something stronger than herself. But Julia, unwittingly, had given

New Oxford

New Oxford—Cletus Storm, near town, was honored at a gathering at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Wildasin, near Hanover, during the week, in observance of his birthday.

Mrs. Dora Houck, teacher at the Red Mill school, reports these pupils have had a perfect attendance record for the past month: Larry Shadle, Ronald Reynolds, Ralph Mummert, Jean Hippensteel, Shirley Shadle, Glenn Stambaugh, Virginia Schuchart, Reginald Reynolds, Philip Shadle, Mildred Fuss, Dolores Hippensteel, Aileen Krug, Joan Stough, Dorothy Fuss, Helen Stough, Harold Shadle and Roy Fuss.

Men of St. Mary's Catholic church will observe the annual service of Nocturnal Adoration throughout Sunday night.

Mrs. Eugene Weaver, whose husband has been transferred to California with the Navy, has moved with her children from an apartment in the Park hotel and will spend an indefinite time with her husband's mother, Mrs. Corinne Weaver.

Local Boy Scout Troop No. 88, of St. Mary's Catholic church, with Scoutmaster Thomas D. O'Brien, attended the Investiture service Sunday at St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown.

Janet L. Dutera, Anna Jane Bollinger, Mary Lou Markel, Patricia A. Alwine, Joyce Leih, Lois V. Philman, Phyllis L. Chronister, George Zarman, Barton Sieg, Herbert H. Hoke, Wilbur H. Miller, Jr., and Ralph Klingel have been chosen as the cast of "Next-Door Neighbors," a play to be given at the local high school auditorium next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith spent Wednesday evening in Hanover.

NANKING GETS PASTING FROM HUGE BOMBERS

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Japanese-controlled Nanking, China, felt the blows of B-29 Superfortresses today, while a Japanese broadcast claimed other formations of air giants had raided the islands of Kyushu and Saishu.

A war department communique said a large task force of China-based planes bombed docks and warehouses at Nanking. Details of the damage inflicted were not made known, but the War department said further information would be given as soon as available.

An imperial Japanese communique, broadcast by the Domei agency and recorded by the Federal communications commission, asserted that 80 of the Superfortresses had struck at the two home islands about 10 a. m. Saturday (Tokyo Time).

The bombers caused only "slight damage" and "fled after blindly dropping bombs from above the clouds," the broadcast said.

Daylight Assault

Kyushu is the southernmost of the Japanese home islands, Saishu, just below the southern tip of Korea, is about 150 miles to the west.

The Superfortresses flew through daylight to accomplish their mission against Nanking, the War department said. It was the second major daylight operation by planes of the 20th air force within a week, other India-based craft having struck on November 3 at installations at Singapore, at the tip of the Malay peninsula, and at an oil refinery at Pangkalan-Brandon on the North coast of Sumatra.

Today's War department announcement, made no mention of any raids other than against Nanking.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, in his capacity as commanding general of the 20th air force, stated at war department headquarters that the Nanking attack was staged by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Le May's bomber command.

Nanking, located 225 miles inland from Shanghai, near where the Yangtze empties into the east China sea, is the seat of populous Kiangsu province and headquarters for a Japanese-controlled puppet government.

York Springs

York Springs.—Mrs. Evelyn Finiff, Waynesboro, formerly of here, was a visitor in this section recently.

"Shorty Fincher and His Prairie Pals" will entertain at the community fire hall Wednesday evening for the benefit of the local fire company.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship Council met during the week at the home of the minister, the Rev. Earl N. Rowe.

Mrs. Hollis Mueller was hostess during the week when the local Home Economics group held its regular meeting at her home.

The local Girl Scout troop attended a scout celebration at Dillsburg during the past week.

Property Transfers

Two deeds and four rights of way were filed this morning at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner at the court house. The deeds included:

Jerome L. and Lottie S. Small, Hanover, to John T. and Alice J. Utz, West Manheim township, York county, a property on the Hanover-Littlestown road in Conewago township.

Elwood F. and Margaret M. Hoffman, McSherrystown, to George A. and Marguerite F. Bair, McSherrystown, a property on the East side of Church (or Second) street, McSherrystown.

The rights of way were all in favor of the Metropolitan Edison company, and included the following properties:

Howard L. and Mary E. Bowling, Mount Joy township, a property on the Germantown-Kingsdale road.

Herbert H. and Lida M. Crouse, Hanover, a property in Mount Joy township.

William A. and Louise E. Bosserman, a property on the Carlisle-Baltimore pike in Hamilton township.

Earle Miller, Hanover, for a property in Conewago township.

British Subs Sink 45 Jap Vessels

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—British submarines sank 45 Japanese vessels in far eastern waters in recent weeks, an Admiralty communique announced today.

A communique said the toll included one large and one medium sized supply ship, a submarine and three landing craft. In addition a medium-sized supply ship and a minesweeper were probably sunk and 14 supply vessels damaged.

The large supply ship, which was sunk by a torpedo, was intercepted while under escort near Padang, off the west coast of Sumatra.

Other sinkings occurred off Sabang, where the Royal Navy submarines fought a brisk gun battle with a Japanese convoy of 12 small supply ships. In another action in the same area an enemy minesweeper was sunk.

Meet Powerful Defense In Italy

Rome, Nov. 11 (AP)—Eighth Army troops, driving ahead north of captured Forlì, smashed into strong German tank and infantry defenses today along a canal running from the northwest corner of the Bologna-Rimini highway town.

Snow has fallen over both the Fifth and Eighth Army fronts to a depth of nine inches in some places and on the Eighth Army front heavy drifts interrupted communications in the hills.

Southwest of Forlì the Germans have taken up positions along the Montone river, Castrocaro, about five miles southwest of Forlì, has been evacuated by the Nazis but they are holding tenaciously in the hills to the west.

On the Fifth Army front due south of Bologna there was aggressive patrolling yesterday punctuated by German artillery fire. Indian troops scored an advance in occupying Monte Budralto, 2,000 foot feature east of the Faenza road.

CHURCHILL AND EDEN IN PARIS

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden have flown to Paris to confer with Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Accompanied by Mrs. Churchill, Miss Mary Churchill, and government officials, they flew to France from an English field in a Douglas Dakota transport plane Friday afternoon.

The news of their trip was held up for security reasons until 11 a. m. (6 a. m. Eastern War Time) today—Armistice Day—the hour at which the first World War armistice began, Nov. 11, 1918.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent undersecretary for foreign affairs, and Nicholas Langford, Eden's private secretary, were in the group.

A buzzing swarm of Spitfires escorted the transport plane.

The Prime Minister went to Paris at the invitation of de Gaulle and the French government.

It was the first time since May 22, 1940, that Churchill had gone to France on a visit of state. Then he flew to Tours to confer with Premier Paul Reynaud and General Maxime Weygand as the Allies retreated and France tottered.

That was five days after he had offered France a solemn union that would have given France equal partnership in the British Empire.

Churchill visited Normandy shortly after the invasion.

President Roosevelt is expected to accept an invitation to Paris later.

East Berlin

East Berlin.—Miss Mary Altland, formerly of here, who has been residing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Edna Goodling, York, is spending some time with her brother, Melvin Altland, and family.

Mrs. George Oberlander, Jr., and daughter, Pamela, and Miss Louise Eliseker, York, were guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. George Oberlander.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleason E. Smith spent the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. Fred V. Baker, and family.

Miss Betty J. Butt, a student at Lebanon Valley College Conservatory of Music, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Grace B. Butt.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kroft, Davidburg, who moved from here last spring, announce the birth of a daughter. They have eight other children.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lavere Lau, Baltimore, and son, Joseph, spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Jere Lau.

Frances, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hertz, Jr., Harrisburg, has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Jacobs.

Word has been received of the birth of a son, Jeri Eugene, to Petty Officer and Mrs. J. Eugene Stumpf, Dover. The mother, the former Miss Dorothy Kunkle, was a graduate of the local high school in 1940.

Mrs. Wilbur Keener and son, Wilbur, have returned after spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Myers, Dillsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Boring, R. 1, entertained during the past week at their home in celebration of the fifth birthday of their daughter, Helen.

Mrs. Fred Diehl, Bedford county, the former Miss Irene E. Sinner, is reported in poor health. Her mother, Mrs. William A. Sinner, has been spending several weeks with her.

The service men from Trinity Lutheran congregation will be honored Sunday evening at a special church service. A similar service has been held each year since the war began. The Rev. Snyder Allen is pastor.

Mervin R. Lau, USA, has returned to his Missouri camp after a furlough at his home. Mrs. Lau returned with him to spend some time.

Mrs. D. Earl Wagner is a patient at the Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, where her condition is reported satisfactory after an operation.

Over only three American buildings does the flag fly officially night and day—over the Capitol and the adjacent House of Representatives and Senate office buildings.

U.S. EAGER TO SEE PEACE IN POLE-RED FUSS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—The United States was understood today to be standing firm on its policy of encouraging Poland and Russia to settle their differences but refusing to guarantee any specific settlement.

This appeared to be the situation as American officials studied the latest request for information and advice presented by the Polish government in exile in London through its ambassador, John Ciechanowski.

Ciechanowski called at the State department late yesterday after making a rush trip here from Chicago where he has been attending the International Aviation conference.

He declined to discuss the purpose of this sudden mission and State department officials likewise refused to disclose what events might be in the making.

However, recent dispatches from London have said that Churchill and Premier Stalin are pressing the London government of Poland to come to an early agreement on its territorial and political differences with Russia.

Stalin's trump cards are that the Red Army primarily is liberating Poland and that the Soviet-sponsored Polish Liberation committee is actually administering the freed territories of eastern Poland.

ASKS VETS AT PEACE TABLE

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Veterans of this war should sit at the peace table to assure the achievement of a lasting peace, Edward N. Schiebler, national commander of the American Legion, said today.

In a speech prepared for Armistice Day ceremonies at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington National cemetery, Schiebler asserted that America had broken its promises to this man and his comrades of the last war.

"This time," he declared, "we do not say that it must not happen again."

"We cannot leave the making of peace to statesmen alone. This time we who have fought in the battles—we, the comrades of the unknown soldier, veterans of two wars, will help formulate the terms of an enduring peace. It can be done only by those of us who know the horrors of war."

The peace that was won after the first world war, said the Legion commander, was lost on the "altar of political expediency and public indifference," he said.

Load Hot Shells To Supply Demand

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 11 (AP)—Demand for artillery ammunition is so great that hot shells are being loaded into freight cars for overseas shipment as soon as the TNT inside them hardens, War Mobilization Director Byrnes said today.

He made this disclosure in an address prepared for Armistice Day.

"We must not let pride in our accomplishments blind us to the magnitude of our needs," Byrnes cautioned, explaining that "our present military shortages are not a product of our failure or our mistakes."

"They are a product of our successes," he added. "We are running months ahead of our military timetable. As a result we must obtain from our war factories material that was not scheduled for production until next March."

Pittsburgh, Nov. 11 (AP)—Walking on the sidewalk, William R. Donnelly, 23, was killed last night when struck by an automobile which mounted the curb after colliding with another vehicle. Four passengers in the cars were injured.

Snowstorms Fail To Stop Flyers

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Snowstorms over Germany failed to check the Allied air offensive today and big formations of bombers were reported hitting the Reich again from the west and south after two concentrated attacks on Hannover during the night.

The Nazi radio warning system said bombers were approaching from several westerly directions and that others were heading up over Bavaria.

The attacks on Hannover were made by RAF Mosquitos which flew through snow and sleet and dropped many tons of bombs, including more than thirty 4,000-pounders, on railroads and factories.

Mosquitos also hit other objectives in the Ruhr.

One German plane was destroyed and one RAF fighter was missing.

Several of the 27 United States heavy bombers and seven fighters reported missing in yesterday's attacks in the Cologne and Frankfurt areas were believed to have landed in France.

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Japanese-controlled Nanking, China, felt the blows of B-29 Superfortresses today, while a Japanese broadcast claimed other formations of air giants had raided the islands of Kyushu and Saishu.

A war department communique said a large task force of China-based planes bombed docks and warehouses at Nanking. Details of the damage inflicted were not made known, but the War department said further information would be given as soon as available.

An Imperial Japanese communique, broadcast by the Domei agency and recorded by the Federal communications commission, asserted that 80 of the Superfortresses had struck at the two home islands about 10 a. m. Saturday (Tokyo Time).

The bombers caused only "slight damage" and "fled after blindly dropping bombs from above the clouds," the broadcast said.

Daylight Assault

Kyushu is the southernmost of the Japanese home islands, Saishu, just below the southern tip of Korea, is about 150 miles to the west.

The Superfortresses flew through daylight to accomplish their mission against Nanking, the War department said. It was the second major daylight operation by planes of the 20th air force within a week, other India-based craft having struck on November 3 at installations at Singapore, at the tip of the Malay peninsula, and at an oil refinery at Pangkalan-Brandon on the North coast of Sumatra.

Today's War department announcement, made no mention of any raids other than against Nanking.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, in his capacity as commanding general of the 20th air force, stated at war department headquarters that the Nanking attack was staged by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Le May's bomber command.

Nanking, located 225 miles inland from Shanghai, near where the Yangtze empties into the east China sea, is the seat of populous Kiangsu province and headquarters for a Japanese-controlled puppet government.

Property Transfers

Two deeds and four rights of way were filed this morning at the office of Register and Recorder Winfield G. Horner at the court house. The deeds included:

Jerome L. and Lottie S. Small, Hanover, to John T. and Alice J. Utz, West Manheim township, York county, a property on the Hanover-Littletown road in Conewago township.

Elwood F. and Margaret M. Hoffman, McSherrystown, to George A. and Marguerite F. Bair, McSherrystown, a property on the East side of Church (or Second) street, McSherrystown.

The rights of way were all in favor of the Metropolitan Edison company, and included the following properties:

Howard L. and Mary E. Bowling, Mount Joy township, a property on the Germantown-Kingsdale road.

Herbert H. and Lida M. Crouse, Hanover, a property in Mount Joy township.

William A. and Louise E. Bosserman, a property on the Carlisle-Baltimore pike in Hamilton township.

Earle Miller, Hanover, for a property in Conewago township.

British Subs Sink 45 Jap Vessels

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—British submarines sank 45 Japanese vessels in far eastern waters in recent weeks, an Admiralty communique announced today.

A communique said the toll included one large and one medium sized supply ship, a submarine and three landing craft. In addition a medium-sized supply ship and a minesweeper were probably sunk and 14 supply vessels damaged.

The large supply ship, which was sunk by a torpedo, was intercepted while under escort near Padang, off the west coast of Sumatra.

Other sinkings occurred off Sabang, where the Royal Navy submarines fought a brisk gun battle with a Japanese convoy of 12 small supply ships. In another action in the same area an enemy minesweeper was sunk.

Meet Powerful Defense In Italy

Rome, Nov. 11 (AP)—Eighth Army troops, driving ahead north of captured Forlì, smashed into strong German tank and infantry defenses today along a canal running from the northwest corner of the Bologna-Rimini highway town.

Snow has fallen over both the Fifth and Eighth Army fronts to a depth of nine inches in some places and on the Eighth Army front heavy drifts interrupted communications in the hills.

Southwest of Forlì the Germans have taken up positions along the Montone river, Castrocaro, about five miles southwest of Forlì, has been evacuated by the Nazis but they are holding tenaciously in the hills to the west.

On the Fifth Army front due south of Bologna there was aggressive patrolling yesterday punctuated by German artillery fire. Indian troops scored an advance in occupying Monte Budralito, 2,000 foot feature east of the Faenza road.

CHURCHILL AND EDEN IN PARIS

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden have flown to Paris to confer with Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Accompanied by Mrs. Churchill, Miss Mary Churchill, and government officials, they flew to France from an English field in a Douglas Dakota transport plane Friday afternoon.

The news of their trip was held up for security reasons until 11 a. m. (6 a. m. Eastern War Time) today—Armistice Day—the hour at which the first World War armistice began, Nov. 11, 1918.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent undersecretary for foreign affairs, and Nicholas Langford, Eden's private secretary, were in the group.

A buzzing swarm of Spitfires escorted the transport plane.

The Prime Minister went to Paris at the invitation of de Gaulle and the French government.

It was the first time since May 22, 1940, that Churchill had gone to France on a visit of state. Then he flew to Tours to confer with Premier Paul Reynaud and General Maxime Weygand as the Allies retreated and France tottered.

That was five days after he had offered France a solemn union that would have given France equal partnership in the British Empire. Churchill visited Normandy shortly after the invasion.

President Roosevelt is expected to accept an invitation to Paris later.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Miss Mary Altland, formerly of here, who has been residing at the home of her sister, Mrs. Edna Goodling, York, is spending some time with her brother, Melvin Altland, and family.

Mrs. D. Earl Warner is a patient at the Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia, where her condition is reported satisfactory after an operation.

Over only three American buildings does the flag fly officially night and day—over the Capitol and the adjacent House of Representatives and Senate office buildings.

U.S. EAGER TO SEE PEACE IN POLE-RED FUSS

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—The United States was understood today to be standing firm on its policy of encouraging Poland and Russia to settle their differences but refusing to guarantee any specific settlement.

This appeared to be the situation as American officials studied the latest request for information and advice presented by the Polish government in exile in London through its ambassador, John Ciechanowski.

Ciechanowski called at the State department late yesterday after making a rush trip here from Chicago where he has been attending the International Aviation conference.

He declined to discuss the purpose of this sudden mission and State department officials likewise refused to disclose what events might be in the making.

However, recent dispatches from London have said that Churchill and Premier Stalin are pressing the London government of Poland to come to an early agreement on its territorial and political differences with Russia. Stalin's trump cards are that the Red Army primarily is liberating Poland and that the Soviet-sponsored Polish Liberation committee is actually administering the freed territories of eastern Poland.

ASKS VETS AT PEACE TABLE

Washington, Nov. 11 (AP)—Veterans of this war should sit at the peace table to assure the achievement of a lasting peace, Edward N. Schiebler, national commander of the American Legion, said today.

In a speech prepared for Armistice Day ceremonies at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington National cemetery, Schiebler asserted that America had broken its promises to this man and his comrades of the last war.

"This time," he declared, "we do not say that it must not happen again."

"We cannot leave the making of peace to statesmen alone. This time we who have fought in the battles—we, the comrades of the unknown soldier, veterans of two wars, will help formulate the terms of an enduring peace. It can be done only by those of us who know the horrors of war."

The peace that was won after the first world war, said the Legion commander, was lost on the "altar of political expediency and public indifference," he said.

"We must not let pride in our accomplishments blind us to the magnitude of our needs," Byrnes cautioned, explaining that "our present military shortages are not a product of our failure or our mistakes."

"They are a product of our successes," he added. "We are running months ahead of our military timetable. As a result we must obtain from our war factories material that was not scheduled for production until next March."

Load Hot Shells To Supply Demand

Columbia, S. C., Nov. 11 (AP)—Demand for artillery ammunition is so great that hot shells are being loaded into freight cars for overseas shipment as soon as the TNT inside them hardens, War Mobilization Director Byrnes said today.

He made this disclosure in an address prepared for Armistice Day.

"We must not let pride in our accomplishments blind us to the magnitude of our needs," Byrnes cautioned, explaining that "our present military shortages are not a product of our failure or our mistakes."

"They are a product of our successes," he added. "We are running months ahead of our military timetable. As a result we must obtain from our war factories material that was not scheduled for production until next March."

Want Russia To Cite Air-Objective

Chicago, Nov. 11 (AP)—The International Civil Aviation conference entered the second half of its expected run today with the United States still pushing absent Russia into the forefront as a possible participant in the world air agreement being sought here by 51 nations.

The latest move in this country's determination to hold the door wide open for the Soviet, which called back its delegation when it was but a matter of hours by air from Chicago, was a request that one seat be added to the proposed executive council for a temporary aviation authority just in case Russia decided to come along and occupy it.

GUARD G. I. BALLOTS

Erie, Pa., Nov. 11 (AP)—Two deputy sheriffs appointed by the county commissioners will stand night guard over returned military ballots now locked in a safe in the courthouse, election officials reported today. The 4,371 soldier votes will be tabulated Nov. 22.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 11 (AP)—Walking on the sidewalk, William R. Donnelly, 23, was killed last night when struck by an automobile which mounted the curb after colliding with another vehicle. Four passengers in the cars were injured.

Snowstorms Fail To Stop Flyers

London, Nov. 11 (AP)—Snowstorms over Germany failed to check the Allied air offensive today and big formations of bombers were reported hitting the Reich again from the west and south after two concentrated attacks on Hannover during the night.

The Nazi radio warning system said bombers were approaching from several westerly directions and that others were heading up over Bayaria.

The attacks on Hannover were made by RAF Mosquitos which flew through snow and sleet and dropped many tons of bombs, including more than thirty 4,000-pounders, on rail yards and factories.

Mosquitos also hit other objectives in the Ruhr.

One German plane was destroyed and one RAF fighter was missing.

Several of the 27 United States heavy bombers and seven fighters reported missing in yesterday's attacks in the Cologne and Frankfurt areas were believed to have landed in France.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Sir: It is about time that I write you this long overdue letter expressing to you my appreciation for sending to me the Service Men's edition of The Times.

I have received it very regularly since my induction into the service in July. It has certainly helped me to keep up to date on the home news. While I was at Bainbridge I showed the paper to quite a few people and they thought it a very public spirited and appreciative act.

Since I first received the paper I have been transferred and I am now stationed at Sampson, New York. I would appreciate it very much if you would now address my paper to the address given below.

Sincerely,

DONALD C. FIESEL, S. 2/C Service School Command, PK 10-45, Bks. S-18, USNTC, Sampson, N. Y.

FARMERS SAY TURKEY CEILING PRICES TOO LOW

The prospect of a local shortage of dressed turkeys for Thanksgiving dinners appeared likely today when a checkup of poultrymen at the Farmers' Market disclosed that none would quote prices on dressed turkeys for Thanksgiving delivery.

The explanation was that the OPA-fixed ceiling prices which range downward from 62 cents per pound do not allow the grower enough margin above the liveweight price to make it profitable to dress the birds. County turkey growers are selling their birds liveweight for 43 to 45 cents a pound.

Turkey growers say that a margin of less than 20 cents is not enough between the two levels to offset the heavy weight loss in dressing and give the grower any margin for the time spent in dressing the traditional Thanksgiving fowl.

"The liveweight ceiling is not high enough to begin with," one turkey grower said this morning. "Feed is $1 to $1.25 a hundred higher than last year and the ceiling price on the turkeys is almost the same."

Other Prices Stable

Pork prices were unchanged at market this morning and eggs continued at 56 cents at most stands. Cider was 50 cents per gallon and apple butter 50 cents a quart. Apples and pears were abundant at prices that have not changed in several weeks. Apple prices ranged downward from $4 for choice Stayman and Delicious to $1.50 and $2 for some other varieties and second grade Stayman and Delicious.

Dressed ducks sold for 50 cents per pound this morning. Dressed chicken prices ranged from 50 cents for old fowl to 58 cents per pound for young birds.

Home-grown celery could be had at 25 and 30 cents per bunch. Black walnut kernels brought 25 cents per quarter pound. Parsley was five cents a bunch.

Potato prices held at $2.75 to $3 per bushel.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg.—Robert K. Danner, representing the veterans of all wars, and connected with the War Man Power Commission, spent Thursday here on matters pertaining to his office. He has arranged to have Burgess Joseph R. Hoke act as chairman of a committee composed of the three town commissioners, Luther Kugler, Lloyd Ohler, and Austin Joy and Guy Nune-maker act as secretary, to assist in establishing returning soldiers in the kind of employment suitable to each, and to help develop a works program in the community to employ local labor following the war.

Mr. Danner said: "Our Frederick office will assist veterans with their claims, papers, hospitalization, and put him in touch with the rehabilitation program of the Veterans' Bureau, see that he is provided with work upon his return from the war, and in fact give him every assistance possible. He need only get in touch with us in Frederick or through the offices of the Burgess and Commissions in the local community." Mr. Danner will be at his Frederick office from 7 to 9 p. m. on Mondays in addition to the regular daylight hours during the week. Veterans unable to go to Frederick may call at the town office for information.

The G. I. Bill of Rights provides a maximum of $20 per week to a veteran for a definite period of time to enable him to secure employment or to adjust himself to a new life. It is required of the veteran to report to the Frederick office once each week for assignment to some kind of work providing the veteran is physically able to take employment. Burgess Hoke said: "We do all we can to help our returning soldiers either directly or by cooperating with Mr. Danner, and we are now making plans to complete the main sewer lines, build an incinerator to take care of garbage disposal, and to surface several of the streets at the close of the war as a means of providing work for our returning soldiers."

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Smith spent Wednesday evening in Hanover.

Chapter 27

The last inspection. Tomorrow everyone would be packing, and early the following morning the ship would dock at Cardiff. The long line of stewards was immaculate, and none more so than Cherry in her stiff, clean uniform.

The last time. There is a sadness, a nostalgia, about the last time of doing anything. Most of the stewards would be signing on again with the Coromandel for the next round voyage; they were trying not to betray their delight at being nearly home. But for Cherry it was different.

She turned her head slightly and saw the long row of open cabin doors with the curtains neatly looped to one side. The white paint had been scrubbed spotless. There were no invalids left; the cabins were empty. Everyone was on deck, trying to make out the misty outlines of Northern Ireland. Seeing the alley like that, it reminded her of that first evening in Auckland, when the cabins had been so impersonal; when she had wondered who would inhabit them, and hoped desperately she could make good. She thought she had done that anyway.

Even Julia had not tried to make trouble since the night of the alarm. It had done Julia a lot of good to realize that in the face of bigger things her moods meant just nothing at all. Like all bullies, she caved in when she met someone or something stronger than herself. But Julia, unwittingly, had given

New Oxford—Cletus Storm, near town, was honored at a gathering at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Wildasin, near Hanover, during the week, in observance of his birthday.

Mrs. Dora Houck, teacher at the Red Mill school, reports these pupils have had a perfect attendance record for the past month: Larry Shadle, Ronald Reynolds, Ralph Mummert, Jean Hippensteel, Shirley Shadle, Glenn Stambaugh, Virginia Schuhart, Reginald Reynolds, Philip Shadle, Mildred Fuss, Dolores Hippensteel, Aileen Krug, Joan Stough, Dorothy Fuss, Helen Stough, Harold Shadle and Roy Fuss.

Men of St. Mary's Catholic church will observe the annual service of Nocturnal Adoration throughout Sunday night.

Mrs. Eugene Weaver, whose husband has been transferred to California with the Navy, has moved with her children from an apartment in the Park hotel and will spend an indefinite time with her husband's mother, Mrs. Corrine Weaver.

Local Boy Scout Troop No. 86, of St. Mary's Catholic church, with Scoutmaster Thomas D. O'Brien, attended the Investiture service Sunday at St. Mary's Catholic church, McSherrystown.

her Terry, and it was going to be terribly hard to say good-bye to Terry. To him—and the ship—and Rory.

What a lot had happened since that evening in Auckland!

If only she had known, Cherry wondered, would she have had the courage to run after Rory and try for this job? Yes, she told herself defiantly, she would. It had been worth it, every moment of this long voyage with its laughter and heartache, its magical moments and its horrible moments.

You can't turn the clock back.

That stiffening like a breeze down the ranks. Cherry standing to attention with the rest. Captain Brigson taking the inspection himself this morning, the last one for this voyage. She felt herself blushing this morning when he shook hands with her, there in front of Bert and all the other stewards, and said, "Miss Mayne, I want to thank you on behalf of the ship and the Company for all you have done. And I know the passengers feel the same. We had no idea there would be so much sickness on board, or we would have taken on a couple more stewardesses. As it was, you did the work of ten nurses. Thanks for a magnificent job of work. We shall be very sorry to lose you."

She could only stammer, "Thank you, sir," and the bluff old sailor had passed on, followed by his retinue. Bert, as the cavalcade passed beyond him, turned and grinned at her. "Good work, Cherry! I told you—you oughter sign on with us fer good an' all!"

A wild idea of doing just that leaped to her brain, but died almost at once. This trip had been a freak affair, with so much sickness; it would be a wicked waste for a fully trained nurse to sign on in a passenger ship. Her place would be in a hospital ship, if she wanted to stay at sea. You couldn't sign on just to be near the man you loved, to torment yourself forever and ever.

No, thought Cherry desperately

Out Of The Past
From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times
TEN YEARS AGO
American Legion Holds Armistice Day Services: The Albert J. Lentz American Legion post observed the sixteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, with exercises in the National cemetery, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The former service men marched from the legion home to the cemetery where exercises were conducted by William Timmins, the post commander.
Captain Calvin Gilbert placed a wreath on the grave of Albert J. Lentz, first Adams county soldier to die in the world war.
On Sunday evening the local legionnaires will attend a special armistice day service at Prince of Peace Episcopal church. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Don Frank Penn, of Baltimore. G. Neville Waters will direct the choir.
Crowds in Town for Farmers' Day: With crowds on the streets and in the stores Farmers' Day was observed in Gettysburg Saturday.
Senator John S. Rice Weds Miss C. L. Rogers in New York City: Miss G. Luene Rogers, daughter of Howard C. Rogers, of Troy, New York, and State Senator John S. Rice, son of Leighton H. Rice of Arentsville, were married Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Riverside Drive church, New York city.
The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. L. Francisco, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, East Orange, New Jersey, in the presence of the immediate families. The Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick is pastor of the Riverside Drive church.
Upon their return from a honeymoon in Florida, they will reside in the former home of S. F. Lehman, corner of Carlisle street and Broadway.
Countians Married: Miss Anna Mae Cole, daughter of Raymond Cole, Aspers, and John Sponseller, of East Berlin, were married by the Rev. Fr. Will Whalen, at the Old Jesuit Mission, Buchanan Valley on Thursday. The attendants were Robert and Miss Grace Cole.
Pastor Installed Sunday Morning: Dr. Charles F. Sanders, Broadway, was in charge of the installation of the Rev. Herbert Schmidt as pastor of the Mr. Joy and Harney Lutheran churches Sunday.
Open Furniture Display: A semi-annual furniture show for dealers, sponsored by the Gettysburg and Reaser furniture factories, the Hanover cabinet company and the Peerless furniture factory of Shippensburg was opened Monday in the C. W. Epley show room, York street. The show closed Saturday evening.
Council Moves Curb Market Next Tuesday: Gettysburg's curb market will be moved from center square to the first block of South Stratton street.
By action taken at the November meeting of council Monday evening, the first block of South Stratton street will be roped off to traffic and hucksters will be allowed uninterrupted use of that street from 6 a. m. until noon Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays.
Democrats Sweep County: Haines and Hartman Retained: Voters of Gettysburg and Adams county expressed confidence in the New Deal in Thursday's general election and helped elect every state and local democratic candidate.
Congressman Harry L. Haines, of Red Lion, was returned to office after serving the twenty-second congressional district for two terms.
Dr. H. M. Hartman seeking reelection to State assemblyman from Adams county for the second two-year term, defeated Robert E. Tip-ton by a majority being 1,265.
Pennsylvania Is Democratic for First Time in Forty Years: Philadelphia, Nov. 7 (AP)—Out of the wreckage of its Republican traditions Pennsylvania today watched mounting plaudits for the New Deal apothecary Joseph P. Guffey, the Keystone state's first democratic United States senator in 64 years.
In the Democratic sweep Pennsylvania elected George H. Earle, former minister to Austria, as governor. This is the first democratic governor in fifty years.
Personal: Mrs. William C. Tyson, of Oak Park, Illinois, has concluded a tour of several days with Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald Sapp, Broadway.
C. Harold Johnson of Philadelphia is spending the week-end with friends in Gettysburg.
The Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Dunkleberger sailed from New York Friday afternoon for Tientsin, India, to do missionary work.
Mr. Joseph Kroul, Jr. and son, of Wilmington, Delaware, are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. William Haner, Hanover street.
"Mac" Dixon is reported to be improved at his home on Broadway. He was operated upon last Saturday for a mastoid.

Riding with Russell
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

One way to lose your inferiority complex is to watch someone else try to park his car.

Keep 'Em Braking
One reason bleeding of hydraulic brakes isn't successful is that the owner doesn't get out all the air. Always bleed until no further bubbles appear in the glass jar used to catch the fluid. Have some fluid in the jar when starting the bleeding and keep the master cylinder's supply tank at least half full of fluid all through the process.

It is not realized by many motorists that hydraulic hoses may become clogged. Replace any hoses so afflicted. A very special precaution to observe is to wash all parts such as brake pistons, cylinders, and rubber parts in alcohol for cleaning purposes, and to dip them in brake fluid before reassembling.

Back to Old Trouble
If you haven't had occasion to get extra gas for an emergency trip you probably haven't had a chance to see how different the behavior of your car may be on the open road. One of my readers thought that he had completely licked ignition trouble by switching to spark plugs that were of a hotter type, but once the car got out on the open road the engine began developing its former ailment of skipping. My belief is that during periods of going downhill with the throttle closed the pistons sucked up more oil than the plugs could burn off their points with the result that ignition suffered. Around town the hotter set of plugs was equal to the job of coping with the smaller amount of oil that passed by the rings. My recommendation is that this owner clean off the plugs and consider the matter a closed book until such time as he has to make another trip. At that time he can install a set of still hotter plugs, or perhaps by then he will have decided to order a ring job.

Toward an Easier Start
Here are five simple things to do to get a better start any morning from now on:
Wipe off the tops of the spark plugs, distributor and coil with a dry, clean cloth.
Pump twice on the accelerator pedal before cranking.
Have light oil in the crankcase.
If the engine doesn't fire on the first period of cranking, don't start cranking again until after a three minute wait. This gives the battery a chance to recover.

Mechanic Joe Speaking
"The job of trying to find out what ails the car's electrical system would be a lot simpler for most owners if they would always keep in mind the fact that there are two main circuits: the low tension and the high tension. Include in the low group the battery, cables, starting motor, generator, voltage regulator, the lights, horn and other electrical accessories. In the high tension system we have the secondary of the coil, the distributor rotor, ignition wires, spark plugs and the high tension cable between the coil and the distributor head. Obviously most of the opportunities for trouble lie in the low voltage system, for even the ignition coil and the starter switch are in that group."

May Be Lean Mixture
If you find that the engine chugs mils with less pinging if you tramp on the accelerator a few times to inject more fuel into the carburetor throat the indications are that the carburetor is set for too lean a mixture. Lean mixtures always did cause knocking, but now that we are faced with the pinging of low octane gasoline we are inclined to blame the gas for everything. In making this test give the accelerator pedal short, quick jabs. This enriches the mixture without forcing the engine as would be the case if you opened the throttle wide and held your foot down on the accelerator pedal.

Engine Comes First
With surprisingly few exceptions it pays to have the engine checked for efficiency before making adjustments or repairs to other major units of the car. The reason for this is simply that the engine has a lot to do with how these other parts behave.

You know that low compression in several of the cylinders will place a heavier burden on the brakes by lowering compression braking on downgrades. But did you ever stop to realize that if the engine is inclined to overheat you may have trouble with the gears? When there is too much heat under the hood there is a good chance that the gear lube will thin down to a point where shifting isn't normal. Heat will also affect the clutch.

It is also true that if there is a miss in the engine there will be a pronounced exaggeration of any backlash in the drive line. You'll be led astray in diagnosing this as need for new universal joints or a punion gear adjustment.

Wears Them Cupped
While it is true that cupping of the treads of front tires may be due to several conditions involving steering geometry and front end alignment don't forget that inefficient shock absorbers may be the prime cause of such tread wear. Unless the shocks are working properly the car is likely to start bobbing. This invites front end instability with the characteristic wobble and the characteristic wobble only when the sole of the foot is on the pedal. While the clutch pedal has much to do with how well you can engage the clutch, many drive with the arch of the foot posed on the pedal in this way the left knee's seat too far back you may not be bending does the job, and not too well. Smooth engagement is possible only when the sole of the foot is on the pedal. While the clutch is also involved in the clutching control some of the pedal positioning is done through rocking of the foot.

While I am on this subject let me remind you that if you have the seat cushion too far forward you are apt to apply the brakes too vigorously. Also if you have the seat too far back you may not be able to handle the brakes as well as an emergency may demand.

Matter of Tires
Talking tires the other day a friend expressed the opinion that since he did not mind a bit of front wheel shimmy now and again he felt it unnecessary to have the tires balanced. I let him vent his ideas for a while and then reminded him that since the main object of all alignment and front wheel stability was to save tires, he should think (Continued from Page 5)

STIMULATING BOOKS
I read many books. Some for mere entertainment, some for instruction, and others for the purpose of stimulating my mind.
Of course, many books of fiction, instruction, or entertainment do this very thing, but the most stimulating books to me are those which deal with great lives — biographies and histories. But there is also in fine books of poetry this same stimulus, and in the essays of the finer writers.
I have read over and over again the stimulating essays of Alexander Smith, in his book "Dreamship," written nearly a hundred years ago, but as fresh and beautiful today as then, when it was apparently little read at all. It is a group of delightful essays "written in the country," and by a man who loved peace and quiet.
The Journals of Thoreau are immensely stimulating, for he was a daring writer—a thinker who made up his own thoughts and put them to paper, with no concern as to the effect they might have on anyone else. Agree with him or not, but don't waste worry him in the least. Nor does it worry anyone who delights to read him today.
The essays of Stevenson, especially, I have found most stimulating. He was another courageous writer who wrote to make people think for themselves at the same time carrying his reader along with him as he spun his beautiful prose into living truths. Any book of essays by R. L. S. is worth treasuring.
Many another book I have often mentioned in this brief space, as well as the ones I have again mentioned—but they can't be mentioned too many times.
Finally there is Shakespeare—a library in a life — and the Bible. The more that I read the Bible the more I am awed at its many beauties. Here are history, poetry, drama, biography, philosophy — everything there is to make a man's life more beautiful. The Bible is the most beautiful book in the world, and it needs and deserves the human spirit of no one else in all the world.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TEN YEARS AGO

American Legion Holds Armistice Day Services: The Albert J. Lentz American Legion post observed the sixteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, with exercises in the National cemetery, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The former service men marched from the legion home to the cemetery where exercises were conducted by William Timmins, the post commander.

Captain Calvin Gilbert placed a wreath on the grave of Albert J. Lentz, first Adams county soldier to die in the world war.

On Sunday evening the local legionnaires will attend a special armistice day service at Prince of Peace Episcopal church. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Don Frank Fenn, of Baltimore. Dr. Neville Waters will direct the choir.

Crowds in Town for Farmers' Day: With crowds on the streets and in the stores Farmers' Day was observed in Gettysburg Saturday.

Business places cooperated with the Albert J. Lentz American Legion post sponsors of Farmers' Day and offered prizes for displays of handiwork and products of the kitchen and the farm. Farmers' Day was held in connection with a bazaar which the legion post is holding in at Xavier hall.

Senator John S. Rice Weds Miss G. L. Rogers in New York City: Miss G. Luene Rogers, daughter of Howard C. Rogers, of Troy, New York, and State Senator John S. Rice, son of Leighton H. Rice of Arendtsville, were married Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Riverside Drive church, New York City.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. L. Francisco, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, East Orange, New Jersey, in the presence of the immediate families. The Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick is pastor of the Riverside Drive church.

Upon their return from a honeymoon in Florida, they will reside in the former home of S. F. Lehman, corner of Carlisle street and Broadway.

Cousins Married: Miss Anna Mae Cole, daughter of Raymond Cole, Aspers, and John Spensler, of East Berlin, were married by the Rev. Fr. Will Whalen, at the Old Jesuit Mission, Buchanan Valley on Thursday. The attendants were Robert and Miss Grace Cole.

Pastor Installed Sunday Morning: Dr. Charles F. Sanders, Broadway, was in charge of the installation of the Rev. Herbert Schmidt as pastor of the Mt. Joy and Harney Lutheran churches Sunday.

Open Furniture Display: A semi-annual furniture show for dealers, sponsored by the Gettysburg and Reaser furniture factories, the Hanover cabinet company and the Peerless furniture factory of Shippensburg was opened Monday in the C. W. Epley show room, York street. The show closed Saturday evening.

Council Moves Curb Market Next Tuesday: Gettysburg's curb market will be moved from center square to the first block of South Stratton street.

By action taken at the November meeting of council Monday evening the first block of South Stratton street will be roped off to traffic and hucksters will be allowed uninterrupted use of that street from 6 a. m. until noon Tuesday, Thursday and Saturdays.

Democrats Sweep County: Haines and Hartman Retained: Voters of Gettysburg and Adams county expressed confidence in the New Deal in Tuesday's general election and helped elect every state and local democratic candidate.

Congressman Harry L. Haines, of Red Lion, was returned to office after serving the twenty-second congressional district for two terms.

Dr. H. M. Hartman seeking reelection as State assemblyman from Adams county for the second two-year term, defeated Robert E. Tip-ton, his majority being 1,285.

Pennsylvania Is Democratic for First Time in Forty Years: Philadelphia, Nov. 7 (AP)—Out of the wreckage of its Republican traditions, Pennsylvania today watched mounting pluralities for the New Deal apostle, Joseph P. Guffey, the Keystone state's first democratic United States senator in 60 years.

In the Democratic sweep Pennsylvania elected George H. Earle, former minister to Austria, as governor. This is the first democratic governor in forty years.

Personal: Mrs. William C. Tyson, of Oak Park, Illinois, has concluded a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald Swope, Broadway.

C. Harold Johnson, of Philadelphia, is spending the week-end with friends in Gettysburg.

The Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Dunkleberger sailed from New York Friday afternoon for Tenali, India, to do missionary work.

Mrs. Joseph Krout, Jr., and son, of Wilmington, Delaware, are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. William Haber, Hanover street.

"Mac" Dickson is reported to be improved at his home on Broadway. He was operated upon last Saturday for a mastoid.

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

One way to lose your inferiority complex is to watch someone else try to park his car.

Keep 'Em Braking

One reason bleeding of hydraulic brakes isn't successful is that the owner doesn't get out all the air. Always bleed until no further bubbles appear in the glass jar used to catch the fluid. Have some fluid in the jar when starting the bleeding and keep the master cylinder's supply tank at least half full of fluid all through the process.

It is not realized by many motorists that hydraulic hoses may become clogged. Replace any hoses so afflicted. A very special precaution to observe is to wash all parts such as brake pistons, cylinders, and rubber parts in alcohol for cleansing purposes, and to dip them in brake fluid before reassembling.

Back to Old Trouble

If you haven't had occasion to get extra gas for an emergency trip you probably haven't had a chance to see how different the behavior of your car may be on the open road. One of my readers thought that he had completely licked ignition trouble by switching to spark plugs that were of a hotter type, but once the car got out on the open road the engine began developing its former ailment of skipping. My belief is that during periods of going downhill with the throttle closed the pistons sucked up more oil than the plugs could burn off their points with the result that ignition suffered. Around town the hotter set of plugs was equal to the job of coping with the smaller amount of oil that passed by the rings. My recommendation is that this owner clean off the plugs and consider the matter a closed book until such time as he has to make another trip. At that time he can install a set of still hotter plugs, or perhaps by then he will have decided to order a ring job.

Toward an Easier Start

Here are five simple things to do to get a better start any morning from now on:

Wipe off the tops of the spark plugs, distributor and coil with a dry, clean cloth.

Pump twice on the accelerator pedal before cranking.

Have light oil in the crankcase.

If the engine doesn't fire on the first period of cranking, don't start cranking again until after a three minute wait. This gives the battery a chance to recover.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"The job of trying to find out what ails the car's electrical system would be a lot simpler for most owners if they would always keep in mind the fact that there are two main circuits: the low tension and the high tension. Pointers on Pedals

Maybe you never realized it before but the position of your foot on the clutch pedal has much to do with how well you can engage the clutch. Many drive with the arch of the foot poised on the pedal. Just Folks

ARMISTICE DAY
Do you remember how we cheered,
And fancied men with war were done;
That when the battered fields were cleared
The grain would ripen in the sun?

Do you remember how we danced
And laughed and sang and drank our wine,
Thinking the cause of peace advanced
And banished every battle line?

Well, we have learned one lesson well:
Hated to strife is doomed to lead.
Peace in the hearts of men must dwell
Or war will the next war surely seed.

Today's Talk

STIMULATING BOOKS
I read many books. Some for mere entertainment, some for instruction, and others for the purpose of stimulating my mind.

Of course, many books of fiction, instruction, or entertainment do this very thing, but the most stimulating books to me are those which deal with great lives — biographies and histories. But there is also in fine books of poetry this same stimulus, and in the essays of the finer writers.

I have read over and over again the stimulating essays of Alexander
Smith, in his book "Dreamthorp," written nearly a hundred years ago, but as fresh and beautiful today as then, when it was apparently little read at all. It is a group of delightful essays "written in the country," and by a man who loved peace and quiet.

The Journals of Thoreau are immensely stimulating, for he was a daring writer—a thinker who made up his own thoughts and put them to paper, with no concern as to the effect they might have on anyone else. Agree with him or not, that didn't worry him in the least.
Nor does it worry anyone who delights to read him today.

The essays of Stevenson, especially, I have found most stimulating.
He was another courageous writer who wrote to make people think for themselves, at the same time carrying his reader along with him as he spun his beautiful prose into living truths. Any book of essays by R. L. S. is worth treasuring.

Many another book I have often mentioned in this brief space, as well as the ones I have again mentioned—but they can't be mentioned too many times.

Finally there is Shakespeare—a library in itself — and the Bible.
The more that I read the Bible the more I am astounded at its many books. Here are history, poetry, drama, biography, philosophy — everything. There is no more beautiful prose to be read anywhere than in the Bible—and it feeds and nourishes the human spirit as no other book in all the world.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TEN YEARS AGO

American Legion Holds Armistice Day Services: The Albert J. Lentz American Legion post observed the sixteenth anniversary of the signing of the Armistice, with exercises in the National cemetery, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The former service men marched from the legion home to the cemetery where exercises were conducted by William Timmins, the post commander.

Captain Calvin Gilbert placed a wreath on the grave of Albert J. Lentz, first Adams county soldier to die in the world war.

On Sunday evening the local legions were attending a special armistice day service at Prince of Peace Episcopal church. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. Don Frank Fenn, of Baltimore. G. Neville Waters will direct the choir.

Crowds in Town for Farmers' Day: With crowds on the streets and in the stores Farmers' Day was observed in Gettysburg Saturday.

Business places cooperated with the Albert J. Lentz American Legion post sponsors of Farmers' Day and offered prizes for displays of handwork and products of the kitchen and the farm. Farmers' Day was held in connection with a bazaar which the legion post is holding in Xavier hall.

Senator John S. Rice Weds Miss G. L. Rogers in New York City: Miss G. Luene Rogers, daughter of Howard C. Rogers, of Troy, New York, and State Senator John S. Rice, son of Leighton H. Rice of Arendtsville, were married Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Riverside Drive church, New York city.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. L. Francisco, pastor of Central Presbyterian church, East Orange, New Jersey, in the presence of the immediate families. The Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick is pastor of the Riverside Drive church.

Upon their return from a honeymoon in Florida, they will reside in the former home of S. F. Lehman, corner of Carlisle street and Broadway.

Countians Married: Miss Anna Mae Cole, daughter of Raymond Cole, Aspers, and John Sponseller, of East Berlin, were married by the Rev. Fr. Will Whalen, at the Old Jesuit Mission, Buchanan Valley on Thursday. The attendants were Robert and Miss Grace Cole.

Pastor Installed Sunday Morning: Dr. Charles F. Sanders, Broadway, was in charge of the installation of the Rev. Herbert Schmidt as pastor of the Mt. Joy and Harney Lutheran churches Sunday.

Open Furniture Display: A semi-annual furniture show for dealers, sponsored by the Gettysburg and Reaser furniture factories, the Hanover cabinet company and the Peerless furniture factory of Shippensburg was opened Monday in the C. W. Epley show room, York street. The show closed Saturday evening.

Council Moves Curb Market Next Tuesday: Gettysburg's curb market will be moved from center square to the first block of South Stratton street.

By action taken at the November meeting of council Monday evening the first block of South Stratton street will be roped off to traffic and hucksters will be allowed uninterrupted use of that street from 6 a. m. until noon Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Democrats Sweep County; Haines and Hartman Retained: Voters of Gettysburg and Adams county expressed confidence in the New Deal in Tuesday's general election and helped elect every state and local democratic candidate.

Congressman Harry L. Haines, of Red Lion, was returned to office after serving the twenty-second congressional district for two terms. Dr. H. M. Hartman seeking reelection as State assemblyman from Adams county for the second two-year term, defeated Robert E. Tipton, his majority being 1,285.

Pennsylvania Is Democratic for First Time in Forty Years: Philadelphia, Nov. 7 (AP)—Out of the wreckage of its Republican traditions, Pennsylvania today watched mounting pluralities for the New Deal apostle, Joseph P. Guffey, the Keystone state's first democratic United States senator in 60 years.

In the Democratic sweep Pennsylvania elected George H. Earle, former minister to Austria, as governor. This is the first democratic governor in forty years.

Personal: Mrs. William C. Tyson, of Oak Park, Illinois, has concluded a visit of several days with Mr. and Mrs. J. Donald Swope, Broadway. C. Harold Johnson, of Philadelphia, is spending the week-end with friends in Gettysburg.

The Rev. and Mrs. R. M. Dunkleberger sailed from New York Friday afternoon for Tenali, India, to do missionary work.

Mrs. Joseph Kroust, Jr., and son, of Wilmington, Delaware, are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. William Haber, Hanover street. "Mac" Dickson is reported to be improved at his home on Broadway. He was operated upon last Saturday for a misad.

Riding with Russell

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. by FREDERICK C. RUSSELL, Member S. A. E.

One way to lose your inferiority complex is to watch someone else try to park his car.

Keep 'Em Braking

One reason bleeding of hydraulic brakes isn't successful is that the owner doesn't get out all the air. Always bleed until no further bubbles appear in the glass jar used to catch the fluid. Have some fluid in the jar when starting the bleeding and keep the master cylinder's supply tank at least half full of fluid all through the process.

It is not realized by many motorists that hydraulic hoses may become clogged. Replace any hose so afflicted. A very special precaution to observe is to wash all parts such as brake pistons, cylinders, and rubber parts in alcohol for cleansing purposes, and to dip them in brake fluid before reassembling.

Back to Old Trouble

If you haven't had occasion to get extra gas for an emergency trip you probably haven't had a chance to see how different the behavior of your car may be on the open road. One of my readers thought that he had completely licked ignition trouble by switching to spark plugs that were of a hotter type, but once the car got out on the open road the engine began developing its former ailment of skipping. My belief is that during periods of going downhill with the throttle closed the pistons sucked up more oil than the plugs could burn off their points with the result that ignition suffered. Around town the hotter set of plugs was equal to the job of coping with the smaller amount of oil that passed by the rings. My recommendation is that this owner clean off the plugs and consider the matter a closed book until such time as he has to make another trip. At that time he can install a set of still hotter plugs, or perhaps by then he will have decided to order a ring job.

Toward an Easier Start

Here are five simple things to do to get a better start any morning from now on:

Wipe off the tops of the spark plugs, distributor and coil with a dry, clean cloth.

Pump twice on the accelerator pedal before cranking.

Have light oil in the crankcase.

If the engine doesn't fire on the first period of cranking, don't start cranking again until after a three minute wait. This gives the battery a chance to recover.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"The job of trying to find out what ails the car's electrical system would be a lot simpler for most owners if they would always keep in mind the fact that there are two main circuits: the low tension and the high tension. Include in the low group the battery, cables, starting motor, generator, voltage regulator, the lights, horn and other electrical accessories. In the high tension system we have the secondary of the coil, the distributor rotor, ignition wires, spark plugs and the high tension cable between the coil and the distributor head. Obviously most of the opportunities for trouble lie in the low voltage system, for even the ignition coil and the starter switch are in that group."

May Be Lean Mixture

If you find that the engine climbs hills with less pinging if you tramp on the accelerator a few times to inject more fuel into the carburetor throat the indications are that the carburetor is set for too lean a mixture. Lean mixtures always did cause knocking, but now that we are faced with the pinging of low octane gasoline we are inclined to blame the gas for everything. In making this test give the accelerator pedal short, quick jabs. This enriches the mixture without forcing the engine as would be the case if you opened the throttle wide and held your foot down on the accelerator pedal.

Engine Comes First

With surprisingly few exceptions it pays to have the engine checked for efficiency before making adjustments or repairs to other major units of the car. The reason for this is simply that the engine has a lot to do with how these other parts behave.

You know that low compression in several of the cylinders will place a heavier burden on the brakes by lowering compression braking on downgrades. But did you ever stop to realize that if the engine is inclined to overheat you may have trouble with the gears? When there is too much heat under the hood there is a good chance that the gear lube will thin down to a point where shifting isn't normal. Heat will also affect the clutch.

It is also true that if there is a pronounced exaggeration of any backlash in the drive line. You'll be led astray in diagnosing this as need for new universal joints or a pinion gear adjustment.

Wears Them Cupped

While it is true that cupping of the treads of front tires may be due to several conditions involving steering geometry and front end alignment don't forget that inefficient shock absorbers may be the prime cause of such tread wear. Unless the shocks are working properly the car is likely to start bobbing. This invites front end instability with the characteristic cupped tire tread wear as evidence of it. Instability and bobbing encourages the wheels to pivot a little—actually a mild form of shimmy.

Pointers on Pedals

Maybe you never realized it before but the position of your foot on the clutch pedal has much to do with how well you can engage the clutch. Many drive with the arch of the foot poised on the pedal. In this way the left knee's bending does the job, and not too well. Smooth engagement is possible only when the sole of the foot is on the pedal. While the knee is also involved in the clutching control some of the pedal positioning is done through rocking of the foot.

While I am on this subject let me remind you that if you have the seat cushion too far forward you are apt to apply the brakes too vigorously. Also if you have the seat too far back you may not be

Matter of Tires

Talking tires the other day a friend expressed the opinion that since he did not mind a bit of front wheel shimmy now and again he felt it unnecessary to have the tires balanced. I let him vent his ideas for a while and then reminded him that since the main object of all alignment and front wheel stability was to save tires he should think

We thought we had become sophisticated. We paid little attention to church activities. And as religion descends, so morals descend. Also as patriotism descends, so good citizenship descends.

"These things happened and there was something radically wrong with the world. Nations wanted others, and the second world war was precipitated."

"Freedom is still available, however," he declared. "Freedom is being free to do that which we ought to do. False freedom is being free to do that which we have no right to do."

In his conclusion, Colonel Daniels stated, "We cannot have freedom and justice without education. To preserve these things the students must take warning and go out and take measures to prevent future attacks and preserve the peace."

Girls' Chorus Sings During the program the girls' chorus at the high school sang two selections, "O Starry Flag," and "The Fisher's Widow" under the direction of Prof. Richard B. Shade, director of music in the Gettysburg schools.

The ceremonies closed with Professor Shade leading the assembly in singing the Star Spangled Banner. Following the Armistice Day program, the students held a "pep rally" in preparation for the football game Friday evening at Mechanicsburg.

Colonel Daniels also spoke Friday evening at the Last Man's club banquet at the Battlefield hotel.

BEGINS LIFE TERM Waynesburg, Pa., Nov. 11 (AP)—Nancy Jeannette Holt, convicted in October, 1943, in the poison murder of her husband, Jesse Holt, "Big Inch" tractor driver, was taken to the state industrial school for women at Muncy to begin a life sentence. Her appeal for a new trial was rejected recently by the state supreme court.

twice about overlooking an opportunity for better tire life. Unbalanced wheels reduces tire mileage from 19 to 50 per cent, depending upon conditions, including the speed the car is operated.

What's Your Trouble Q. What can I do to check a very annoying click in the oil gauge? The pressure regulator was adjusted, but without results. Do I need a new gauge?—P. McM.
A. The gauge is reflecting irregular pressure due, in turn, to too thin oil. Try an oil change.

Q. I am still troubled with persistent overheating even though it seems that everything has been done to correct this. I am at my wit's end. Have you a possible suggestion?—E. E. E.

A. Check for a broken impeller blade on the water pump. Some of the broken pieces may be clogging the cylinder head water hole.

Q. Ever since purchasing a new car, to which I was entitled because of my work, there has been persistent missing in the engine. My first thought was that the valves had gummed up from standing or that the dealer had neglected to give the car proper care during the long period of storage. However, a careful inspection of the car fails to show the usual evidences of neglect. Yet something is wrong with that engine. If you can help me with a suggested remedy I'll be greatly indebted.—R. L. Jr.

A. I'd like to suggest that you check to see if the intake manifold is tight enough. It seems to me that the missing could easily be due to air leaking in at this point. There is an awful growling noise in the rear end of my car. Thought I might be fooled by front wheel tire noise, but the trouble is definitely in the rear.—N. V. E.

Xmas Greeting Edition For Men, Women In Service

The Gettysburg Times will again publish its popular Christmas Greeting edition this year for the men and women in service and the cooperation of the parents, wives, sisters and brothers of those in service is requested.

As in the past the edition will contain special Christmas Greeting messages from those back home to those in service. Those back home are urged to write their Christmas Message to some loved one in service and mail it to The Gettysburg Times NOW. These messages will be held in the strictest confidence and will be published in the Christmas Edition. A copy of the edition will be sent to the Adams county men and women in service.

Please do not put this off. Do it now before you forget. The edition should include a Christmas Message from the home folks of every Adams countian in service. He or she, in service, will appreciate this thoughtful remembrance more than words can describe.

Be sure to write the rank and full name and address for whom the Greeting is intended. And be sure to sign your full name and address.

Xmas Greeting Edition For Men, Women In Service

The Gettysburg Times will again publish its popular Christmas Greeting edition this year for the men and women in service and the cooperation of the parents, wives, sisters and brothers of those in service is requested.

As in the past the edition will contain special Christmas Greeting messages from those back home to those in service. Those back home are urged to write their Christmas Message to some loved one in service and mail it to The Gettysburg Times NOW. These messages will be held in the strictest confidence and will be published in the Christmas Edition. A copy of the edition will be sent to the Adams county men and women in service.

Please do not put this off. Do it now before you forget. The edition should include a Christmas Message from the home folks of every Adams countian in service. He or she, in service, will appreciate this thoughtful remembrance more than words can describe.

Be sure to write the rank and full name and address for whom the Greeting is intended. And be sure to sign your full name and address.

What's Your Trouble

Q. What can I do to check a very annoying click in the oil gauge? The pressure regulator was adjusted, but without results. Do I need a new gauge?—P. McM.

A. The gauge is reflecting irregular pressure due, in turn, to too thin oil. Try an oil change.

Q. I am still troubled with persistent overheating even though it seems that everything has been done to correct this. I am at my wits' end. Have you a possible suggestion?—B. E. E.

A. Check for a broken impeller blade on the water pump. Some of the broken pieces may be clogging the cylinder head water hole.

that they should be solemnly, reverently, and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and one voice by the whole American people. . . .

And from Lincoln's second inaugural address are these gems of kindness from the great emancipator:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, for his widow, and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations."

Lincoln's letter of condolence to the Mother who lost five sons in the war is priceless:
"I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

of my work, there has been persistent missing in the engine. My first thought was that the valves had gummed up from standing or that the dealer had neglected to give the car proper care during the long period of storage. However, a careful inspection of the car fails to show the usual evidences of neglect. Yet something is wrong with that engine. If you can help me with a suggested remedy I'll be greatly

A. I'd like to suggest that you check to see if the intake manifold is tight enough. It seems to me that the missing could easily be due to air leaking in at this point.

Q. There is an awful growling noise in the rear end of my car. Thought I might be fooled by front wheel tire noise, but the trouble is definitely in the rear.—N. V. E.

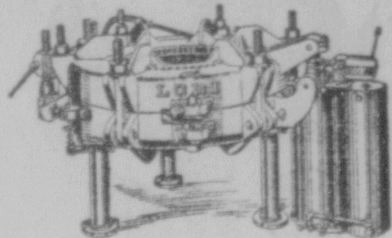

A. The rear universal joint yoke

MECHANICSBURG BEATS MAROONS IN FINAL 13-6

Gettysburg high school's football team wound up its season Friday evening by dropping a 13-6 decision to Mechanicsburg on the latter's field in a Southern Pennsylvania Conference game played before approximately 2,000 fans.

The victory was the first of the season for the Wildcats who had previously dropped seven straight tilts.

Particularly outstanding for Gettysburg was the work of Curran Sanders on the line.

Near the middle of the second period Mechanicsburg secured possession of the ball at midfield through a Maroon fumble. K. Rider punted up 30 yards on the end runs and then Herzler went off on a short dash.

Rider Kicked the Point

Early in the fourth period K. Rider intercepted a Maroon pass on the local 35 and raced to 4-yard mark from where he punted over a ten seconds later. The kick for the point was wide.

Coach Dry's outfit scored late in the final round. The Maroons secured possession of the pylon on their own 25 through a fumble. Rider then whipped a pass to Rasmussen on the 50 who immediately lateralled to Hachulen and the latter dashed 50 yards for a touchdown. Rider's placement for the point was wide.

The absence of four regulars and two reserves from the Maroon squad was undoubtedly felt. According to Coach Dry the following were dropped from the squad Tuesday for missing practices and generally breaking training rules: George Thrush, Joseph Stephenson, Milton Moyer, Earl Keefe, Leroy Rudisill and Harry Shaner.

A member of the group dropped from the squad told a Times reporter this morning that the group had reported at the locker room on Monday evening and upon finding the locker room door locked had waited "10 to 15 minutes" before leaving.

The lineup: Mechanicsburg — L.E.—Sheely, L.T.—R. Rider, L.G.—Stoner, C.—Sunday, R.G.—Geberich, R.T.—Corber, R.E.—Powell, R.B.—K. Rider, L.H.—F. House, R.H.—G. House, F.B.—Herzler.

Score by periods:
Mechanicsburg — 0 7 0 6—13
Gettysburg — 0 0 0 6—6

Touchdowns: Herzler, K. Rider and Hachulen. Point after touchdowns: K. Rider. Substitutions: Mechanicsburg—Jacobs, Piper, Shur-leyn, W. Stone, Parsons, Rollman; Gettysburg—Sharrin, Ferry, Wolf, Referee, Doremus, Um-pire, Nye Headlinesman C. Miller.

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—Columbia's Lou Little, for our money one of the smartest football coaches in the business, looks for a new type of football offense to come out of wartime experiments with different formations. . . . That's not hard to predict, for playing football under present conditions is an experiment in itself and the coaches have been trying anything that might make up for the lack of experienced players.

Little's suggestion is that the offense of the future will combine the best features of the "T" formation and the single wing or "Z". . . . The successful "T", according to Chuck Meehan, who ought to know something about the game, requires a quarterback who can pass and a fullback who can run wide as well as plunge. . . . The "Z", of course, is more of a power formation, requiring husky operatives. . . . Some coaches, including Meehan's Fritz Crisler and Colgate's Andy Kerr, have been mixing the two with fair success this season. Herb Kopf's "Q-T" isn't a new variation and now comes Charbe Bachman of Michigan State with the "X-Z" formation.

The "X" is supposed to represent a factor of uncertainty whether the fullback will hit what Bachman thinks is a defensive weak spot at center or just fake it. . . . With all these lustered formations to choose from, the next big problem for the coaches to solve is what to do about the alumnus who draws a seat in row ZZ behind the goal post.

76,000 TO SEE CADETS, IRISH ON GRID TODAY

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—It's now or never for Army today. The unbeaten and untied Cadets, ranked as the number one team in the country, battle Notre Dame before a sellout crowd of 76,000 at the Yankee stadium.

The Cadets haven't scored a touchdown on the Irish since 1938 and haven't kicked the South Benders since 1931. Army men feel that if this year's eleven, with its wealth of hard-running backs, can't trounce the Irish "we never will."

Although the game ranks as tops throughout the nation, it is not the only outstanding struggle. At Ann Arbor, Mich., Illinois and Michigan come to grips in a game that promises many thrills.

Other Contests

The Wolverines, beaten only by Indiana, have regained national interest during the last two weeks by walloping Purdue and Pennsylvania with an attack of reverses, spinners, line bucks and end runs so cleverly put into action that many spectators didn't know at first who had the ball. If the Ann Arbor lads get by Illinois, a team that nearly defeated Notre Dame, the coming Ohio State-Michigan encounter would shape up as one of the best of the season.

Some of the other foremost engagements of the day:

SAMMY ANGOTT IS OUTPOINTED

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—Jimmy McDaniels, of Los Angeles, climbed higher in the welterweight ranks last night by outpointing the veteran Sammy Angott in a slim-bang 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden before 10,430 who contributed to a gross gate of $32,161.

The crafty Californian came close to being the first scrappier ever to keep the ring-wise former light-eight titleholder from Washington, Pa. In the seventh he caught Angott flush on the jaw with a hard right. Angott fell into the ropes where his cunning foiled McDaniels' efforts to whip over the finishing wall.

While McDaniels outsped the veteran, it was by no means a one-sided affair. Angott easily won the first two rounds, giving McDaniels a bloody nose, then outsped the Pacific coast youth in a furious ninth that made McDaniels retreat. Judge Jimmy Hagen ruled the fight a draw, giving each scrappier five rounds. Judge Joe Agnello gave McDaniels seven rounds and Angott three while Referee Benny Leonard gave McDaniels six. Angott three and called one even.

Angott weighed 144½ to 144½ for McDaniels.

Bullets To Have Basketball Team

At a meeting of the athletic council of Gettysburg college Friday evening it was decided that basketball will be continued during the coming season.

The schedule, as yet incomplete, will open early in January.

MY BOY

Dallas, Nov. 11 (AP)—"My boy" has just been struck by a car. A Dallas woman excitedly told a police desk sergeant over the telephone.

Two squad cars and an ambulance arrived on the scene.

The victim was a dog named "My Boy."

HANOVER DOWNS MAROON SCRUBS

After holding their heavier opponents scoreless for three periods the Gettysburg high jayvees yielded a pair of touchdowns in the final period and dropped a 12-0 decision to the Hanover junior high eleven here Friday afternoon.

Midway in the final period Mummert scored on a pass which was good for 30 yards and Gobrecht added the extra point on a placement boot.

A few minutes later Loney swept around end and raced 20 yards for a tally. The try for the extra point failed.

Coach Heehnen's lads gave a good account of themselves, especially those playing on the forward wall.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY

Starring Wallace Beery with Binnie Barnes, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Barbary Coast Gent," which opens Monday at the Majestic, is an exciting, laugh-packed story of San Francisco's Barbary Coast and early Nevada gold-field days.

Beery plays honest Plush Brannon, bunco artist who turns two-gun 1880 Robin Hood and jingle writer.

Included in the all star supporting cast are Frances Rafferty, Bruce Kellogg, John Carradine, Donald Meek, Ray Collins, Chill Wills, Henry O'Neill and Noah Beery, Sr.

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Solid entertainment prevails from the first downbeat to the last as "Sweet and Low-Down," 20th Century-Fox's hit musical opening Wednesday at the Majestic theatre, tells the story of the life and loves of a million-dollar band.

The King of Swing—Benny Goodman and his band are starred in the film with Linda Darnell, Lynn Bari and Jack Oakie.

Four new hit tunes by Mack Gordon and James Monaco become sweet, hot and heavenly music as Benny Goodman and his band introduce them for the first time.

Ronald Colman who stars with Marlene Dietrich in "Kismet."

Marlene Dietrich not only sings in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Kismet," but dances, too!

As queen of Baghdad's dancers in the technicolor spectacle, opening Friday at the Majestic theatre, Marlene does a nautch dance which Jack Cole, national authority on East Indian routines and dance director of the picture. She also sings an Oriental love song to Ronald Colman, who portrays the adventurous beggar-magician of the romantic tale set in Baghdad of a thousand years ago.

MECHANICSBURG BEATS MAROONS IN FINAL 13-6

Early in the fourth period K. Rider intercepted a Maroon pass on the locals' 35 and raced to 4-yard mark from where he plunged over a few seconds later. The kick for the point was wide.

Coach Dry's outfit scored late in the final round. The Maroons secured possession of the pigskin on their own 25 through a fumble. Fidler then whipped a pass to Rasmussen on the 50 who immediately lateralled to Haehnlen and the latter dashed 50 yards for a touchdown. Fidler's placement for the point was wide.

The absence of four regulars and two reserves from the Maroon squad was undoubtedly felt. According to Coach Dry the following were dropped from the squad Tuesday for missing practices and generally breaking training rules: George Thrush, Joseph Stephenson, Milton Moyer, Earl Keefer, Leroy Rudisill and Harry Shaner.

A member of the group dropped from the squad told a Times reporter this morning that the group had reported at the locker room on Monday evening and upon finding the locker room door locked had waited "10 to 15 minutes" before leaving.

76,000 TO SEE CADETS, IRISH ON GRID TODAY

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—It's "now or never for Army today. The unbeaten and untied Cadets, ranked as the number one team in the country, battle Notre Dame before a sellout crowd of 76,000 at the Yankee stadium.

The Cadets haven't scored a touchdown on the Irish since 1938 and haven't licked the South Benders since 1931. Army men feel that if this year's eleven, with its wealth of hard-running backs, can't trounce the Irish "we never will."

Although the game ranks as tops throughout the nation, it is not the only outstanding struggle. At Ann Arbor, Mich., Illinois and Michigan come to grips in a game that promises many thrills.

Other Contests

The Wolverines, beaten only by Indiana, have regained national interest during the last two weeks by walloping Purdue and Pennsylvania with an attack of reverses, spinners, line bucks and end runs so cleverly put into action that many spectators didn't know at first who had the ball. If the Ann Arbor lads get by Illinois, a team that nearly defeated Notre Dame, the coming Ohio State-Michigan encounter would stage-up as one of the best of the season.

Duke aims to topple Wake Forest from the unbeaten, untied ranks in another topflight struggle.

Some of the other foremost engagements of the day:

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—Columbia's Lou Little, for our money one of the smartest football coaches in the business, looks for a new type of football offense to come out of wartime experiments with different formations. . . . That's not hard to predict, for playing football under present conditions is an experiment in itself and the coaches have been trying anything that might make up for the lack of experienced players.

ALPHABET SOUP

Little's suggestion is that the offense of the future will combine the best features of the "T" formation and the single wing or "Z". . . . The successful "T", according to Chick Meehan, who ought to know something about the game, requires a quarterback who can pass and a fullback who can run wide as well as plunge. . . . The "Z", of course, is more of a power formation, requiring husky operatives. . . . Some coaches, including Michigan's Fritz Crisler and Colgate's Andy Keer, have been mixing the two with fair success this season. Herb Kopf's "Q-T" isn't a new variation and now comes Charlie Bachman of Michigan State with the "X-Z" formation. . . . The "X" is supposed to represent a factor of uncertainty whether the fullback will hit what Bachman thinks is a defensive weak spot at center or just fake it. . . . With all those lettered formations to choose from, the next big problem for the coaches to solve is what to do about the alumnus who draws a seat in row ZZ behind the goal post.

If the Ann Arbor lads get by Illinois, a team that nearly defeated Notre Dame, the coming Ohio State-Michigan encounter would shape up as one of the best of the season.

SAMMY ANGOTT IS OUTPOINTED

New York, Nov. 11 (AP)—Jimmy McDaniels, of Los Angeles, climbed higher in the welterweight ranks last night by outpointing the veteran Sammy Angott in a slam-bang 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden before 10,430 who contributed to a gross rate of $3,181.

The youthful Californian came close to being the first scrapper ever to kyo the ring-wise former lightweight titleholder from Washington, Pa. In the seventh he caught Angott flush on the jaw with a hard right. Angott fell into the ropes where his cunning foeled McDaniels' efforts to whip over the finishing wallop.

While McDaniels outsped the veteran, it was by no means a one-sided affair. Angott easily won the first two rounds, giving McDaniels a bloody nose, then outslugged the Pacific coast youth in a furious ninth that made McDaniels retreat. Judge Jimmy Hagen ruled the fight a draw, giving each scrapper five rounds. Judge Joe Agnello gave McDaniels seven rounds and Angott three while Referee Benny Leonard gave McDaniels six, Angott three and called one even.

Angott weighed 144½ to 144¼ for McDaniels.

Bullets To Have Basketball Team

At a meeting of the athletic council of Gettysburg college Friday evening it was decided that basketball will be continued during the coming season. The schedule, as yet incomplete, will open early in January.

MY BOY

Dallas, Nov. 11 (AP)—"My boy has just been struck by a car," a Dallas woman excitedly told a police desk sergeant over the telephone. Two squad cars and an ambulance arrived on the scene. The victim was a dog named "My Boy."

HANOVER DOWNS MAROON SCRUBS

After holding their heavier opponents scoreless for three periods, the Gettysburg high jayvees yielded a pair of touchdowns in the final period and dropped a 13-0 decision to the Hanover junior high eleven here Friday afternoon.

Midway in the final period Mummert scored on a pass which was good for 30 yards and Gobrecht added the extra point on a placement boot.

Coach Haehnle's lads gave a good account of themselves, especially those playing on the forward wall.

Next Friday the Maroons will close their season by meeting the Shippensburg high jayvees at Shippensburg.
